GEN. VON LUDENDORFF IS DEAD

C.I.O. DISRUPTED BY COMMUNISTS, LEADERS ADMIT

Funds Shut Off by Big Unions.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 19.—[Special.]—Committees of the American Federation of Labor and the C. I. O. will resume their peace efforts here on Tuesday with John L. Lewis' own lieutenants admitting that the C. I. O. is torn by internal dissension over the communist element in its ranks and threatened with financial collapse.

Homer Martin.

A shorthand reporter's transcript of a speech made by Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers of America, at a U. A. W. district council meeting in Rockford, Ill., on Nov. 7, confirms the schism in the ranks of the C. I. O. over communism and the strained financial condition of the organization because the big international unions are refusing to contribute funds.

The communism issue will be the crux of the negotiations for peace because President William Green of the A. F. of L. has demanded that the Reds be eliminated from posts of responsibility in the labor organization.

Denounces Reds in C. I. O.

Martin, at the Rockford meeting, devoted some 4,000 words to a denunciation of the communists in the C. I. O. and a lament on the deplorable state of the C. I. O. finances.

Martin told the delegates frankly that the jig was up if the C. I. O. expected to keep on milking the large international unions for funds to squander on communist organizers of "paper unions." The term "paper unions" was Martin's.

He declared that Lewis' boast of a C. I. O. membership of 4,000,000 workers is largely made up of the paper unions which pay no dues into the C. I. O. He said further that the big unions no longer will finance organization drives in other industries.

On Tuesday Mr. Green and Lewis, the C. I. O. dictator, will meet with their respective committees and report that at their recent face to face conference they failed to make any progress toward peace for the warring labor factions.

C. I. O. Offer Stated.

In Pittsburgh last Thursday, when he addressed a meeting of the Steel Workers' Organizing committee, Lewis said:

"The C. I. O. has offered the A. F. of L., if it will agree to C. I. O. organizing the basic industries, to merge into the A. F. of L. on a given day and date with its entire 4,000,000 members.

"The A. F. of L. has refused that offer and says it does not want 4,000,000 members. It would like to have a million new members to see how they could digest them first, and then think about the other 3,000,000. We said before and we will say it again that they will digest us all or none."

Lewis thus blamed the A. F. of L. for the failure of the peace conference. The authentic story of what took place at that conference between Green and Lewis has been learned. Briefly it is this:

Proposal by Green.

Green proposed that the A. F. of L. take back immediately the 10 industrial unions which originally broke away from the parent organization and formed the C. I. O. He proposed that the other 23 unions in the C. I. O. be assimilated gradually, chartering those whose jurisdictions did not conflict with A. F. of L. unions, and merging the others with corresponding A. F. of L. unions where there was a conflict of jurisdiction.

This plan originally had been accepted by the 10-man C. I. O. negotiating committee, subject to the veto power of Lewis. Lewis rejected it, demanding at this conference with Green that all the 32 C. I. O. unions be chartered immediately regardless of conflicting jurisdictions, and that they be taken in on their claimed membership basis, whether or not

CHIEF OF STAF FOR GERMANY IN WORLD WAR

Organized Army for Kaiser's Last Stand.

MUNICH, Germany, Dec. 20 [Monday].—(AP)—Gen. Erich von Ludendorff, 72 years old, German world war commander, died today.

The aged warrior had been operated on Nov. 29 for a bladder ailment. He had been recuperating until last night when his condition took a sudden turn for the worse. Then his physicians said Gen. Ludendorff's heart grew weaker. He died at 8:20 a. m. [1:20 a. m. Chicago time].

Gen. Ludendorff was one of Germany's last surviving world war military figures. During the war he was chief of staf under Field Marshal Paul von Hindenburg.

FAME IS WORLD WIDE.

One of the master minds of imperial Germany, Gen. Erich Ludendorff won international fame as chief of staf of Field Marshal Paul von Hindenburg on both the eastern and western fronts of the world war and finally as chief quartermaster general of the whole huge war machine when he organized Germany's last desperate fight.

At the storming of Liege, Belgium, in the first week of the big conflict, later with Hindenburg in crushing the Russians in East Prussia and finally as organizer of the "Hindenburg line" on the western front and inspiration for the big spring push of 1918 that had the allies with their "backs to the wall," Ludendorff gained a pinnacle of popular acclaim in Germany and post-war memoirs from his foes paid tribute to his strategy, organizing ability and resourcefulness in action.

Quarrels with Kaiser.

But in the closing weeks of the war Ludendorff's whole destiny was sent off on a tangent. He quarreled with the kaiser and was dismissed from his high army post; he was accused by the organizers of the German republic of prolonging the conflict, and fled to temporary exile in Sweden.

Thereafter, embittered by the turn of events, he became a caustic publicist. In the early post war year he took part in every anti-republican revolutionary movement that promised success, including the Kapp putsch of March, 1920, and Adolph Hitler's famous "beer cellar putsch" of 1923. He stood trial for high treason in connection with the Hitler affair, but won acquittal.

In the late '20s and on into the Nazi régime that began in 1933, Ludendorff by written and spoken word attacked Jews, Freemasons, Catholics, Protestants, and Nazis in terms that gave rise to a stream of libel actions. He turned his guns on Hindenburg, estranging old army comrades, and when Hitler tried to make peace with him on his 70th birthday by lauding Ludendorff's "imperishable merits," ordering flags flown in his honor and offering him the title of field marshal, he coldly declined that rank and told friends that the Nazi régime was using him merely as a show piece and soon would forget him again.

Mends Quarrel with Ex-Kaiser.

But meanwhile Ludendorff's relations with the house of Hohenzollern had again become "correct." On his 70th birthday the ex-kaiser sent him a handwritten letter of congratulations and the ex-crown prince made a personal call upon the stubborn old soldier.

Ludendorff was born April 9, 1865, near Schwersenz, a town six miles east of Posen, then in Prussia but now a part of Poland. He went through the military academy at Grosslichterfelde, was commissioned a lieutenant in 1882, a staf captain in 1895, a colonel in 1913, and commander of a brigade at Strassburg in April, 1914, less than four months before the outbreak of the war. When the conflict started he was appointed quartermaster general of the second army.

Liege was stormed the night of Aug. 5. Gen. von Wussow, commander of the 14th Infantry division, was killed and Ludendorff assumed command. He led the troops through the outlying fortifications, became separated from his men, and arrived before the citadel accompanied only by a brigade adjutant.

Ludendorff boldly demanded surrender of the stronghold. The huge doors slowly swung open and several hundred Belgians gave themselves

Mrs. Kite Flies Off the Handle, but Ax Doesn't

Alton, Ill., Dec. 19.—[Special.]—Law enforcement agencies in this city of 30,000 last night saw in forty-five minutes what one woman could do about suppression of slot machines when she battered thirteen of them to pieces and no one dared interfere.

Mrs. Dan Kite.

Mrs. Dan Kite started her campaign against slot machines at 9 o'clock and at 9:45 she was in the hands of police. A few minutes later she was free to resume her campaign.

Carrying a hand ax, Mrs. Kite, who is a strong woman in her thirties, entered a tavern, apologized in politest fashion to the proprietor and his paying guests for any annoyance she might cause them and went to work on the slot machine.

Visits Six More Places.

Six more taverns were visited and the same procedure was followed, a most polite apology and then smash, crash, and the slot machine was in ruins.

In the eighth tavern the proprietor approached Mrs. Kite as she stood with her ax raised for the first blow. He intimated he would try to prevent her from attacking the "one armed bandit."

"I wouldn't want to have to hit you with this ax," she remarked. She smashed the machine.

Taverns 9 and 10 were visited and the score now was Mrs. Kite, 13; tavern keepers, 0. As she emerged from the tenth tavern a policeman approached her. "Well, I guess you are looking for me," she said.

"Who are you?" asked the policeman.

She Identifies Herself.

"I'm the woman who has been smashing all the slot machines," she replied.

Off to jail they started. There officers recalled an opinion last week by Attorney General Otto Kerner, who held any one having anything whatsoever to do with slot machines, except to smash them, was a criminal. Kerner also held there can be no property rights in a slot machine. Mrs. Kite, therefore, had damaged no one so she went home.

Town gossip is that Mr. Kite, who is a tavern keeper, sought to operate slot machines and could not make arrangements which caused her to remark:

IT'S AN ICE DAY FOR DUCKS, SO WILLIAM UPS AND TAKES ONE

Among those who did not like Chicago's weather yesterday was Robert William Gilmore, 27 years old, an optician. Walking onto a dock near the Wabash avenue bridge he yelled to some river gazers at the rail: "It's too hot."

Nobody seemed to believe him, so Gilmore took off his garments, beginning with his overcoat, and peeling down to his underwear. Then, with a loud whoop, he plunged into the river.

Coast guardsmen from the cutter Rush went in a boat to aid him. He pulled two of them into the water before he was subdued, and the three were rescued. On the cutter he informed Chief Boatswain's Mate Thomas Andreasen that he was still warm and expected to continue that way until more liquor sweated out. Later he told policemen who took charge of him that he lived at 3330 Flournoy street.

RIVER LOW; GOES TO BOAT HE SAW SINK 75 YEARS AGO

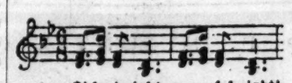
Kimmswick, Mo., Dec. 19.—(AP)—When the Mississippi river fell to its lowest recorded mark last week, Benjamin J. Waters, 81 years old, had the unusual experience of walking the waterlogged decks of a civil war steamboat he saw sink 75 years ago.

He told how as a boy of six he watched in awe from a bluff as a tremendous "ice gorge" broke and charged downstream into a trio of river boats.

Police and Firemen Fail, but Boy of 5 Succeeds

Anaconda, Mont., Dec. 19.—(AP)—Police, firemen and passersby tried in vain to make a kitten come down from its perch atop a 20 foot power line pole. A boy about five years old came along, sized up the situation and called: "Kitty, kitty, kitty." The kitten came down.

Nazi Pagans Set New Words to 'Silent Night'



1. Si-lent night, peace-ful night!

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Dec. 19.—Hymns sung at Christmas by Germans wherever they are gathered throughout the world have been rewritten to agree with doctrins of the heathen "German Faith" movement and other neo-pagan movements in Germany.

"Oh, the Christmas Tree" is to be sung to an old tune to "show that it is a real old folk song and not a church hymn."

Martin Luther's "From Heaven on High" also has been partly rewritten to eliminate any suggestion of Christianity.

Revise the Best Known.

The best known of all is "Silent Night," which, in its original version, reads as follows:

Silent night, holy night,
All is calm, all is bright
Round yon Virgin Mother and Child.
Holy Infant, so tender and mild,
Sleep in heavenly peace,
Sleep in heavenly peace.

Other translations of the German substitute the words sacred or peaceful for the word holy.

The new "German Faith" version of the same stanza reads:

Silent night, winter's night,
Snowflakes dance soft and white.
Life sleeps calmly, protected from harm,
Nestles snugly in mother earth's arms.
Wondrous miracle—despair must go,

Everything Christian Torn Out.

Commenting on this de-Christianization of Christmas hymns, the "Young Church," organ of the Confessional [Evangelical Lutheran] church movement says:

"We see everything Christian diligently torn out. If only the substitutes were a little worthwhile, but how poor they look! With improvisations, the German Faith members only demonstrate their own lack of religious strength."

"Formerly there were true Christmas rejoicings in the certainty that all Christendom shared in this festival of love," remarked the officiating pastor at St. Anne's church in Dahlem today. "But," he added, "that is no longer the case."

Judge Geiger's Acts Assailed by Cummings

Washington, D. C., Dec. 19.—[Special.]—Attorney General Horner S. Cummings today revealed a letter written by him to H. W. Sumners [D., Tex.], chairman of the house judiciary committee, accusing Federal Judge Ferdinand A. Geiger of Milwaukee of abitrary, unjust, and unfair conduct.

The immediate cause of Cummings' complaint was Judge Geiger's discharge of a Milwaukee federal grand jury which was investigating anti-trust charges against the Ford Motor company, General Motors, and the Chrysler company because of their alleged illegal control of finance companies in their sales machinery.

Criticizes Justice Department.

Judge Geiger took this action after criticizing the department of justice for negotiating for a settlement with the defendants while the case was pending in his court.

The Cummings' letter was addressed to Sumners as head of the committee which initiates impeachment proceedings. Impeachments voted by the house are tried by the senate sitting as a court. If found guilty the senate may oust a public official and bar him from holding office in the future.

Cummings Sums Up Complaint.

Mr. Cummings summed up his complaint as follows: "The net results of Judge Geiger's unwaranted interference with this department and with the grand jury have been:

"First, to free the companies from any present necessity for correcting the objectionable practices; second, to save them from indictment for past violations of the anti-trust laws; and third, to discredit the efforts of the government to correct abuses in the industry.

Dismisses Six Tax Cases.

The attorney general then said that in 1935 Judge Geiger dismissed six criminal tax cases because in one an agreement had been made pursuant to law whereby "the defendant was to pay the full amount of taxes, penalties and interest and enter a plea of guilty to one count of an indictment."

Cummings' letter then stated that after the grand jury began its auto financing inquiry his department was approached by some of the companies with the suggestion that some of the conditions objected to might be remedied by civil decree.

The government's position, Cummings declared, was that it refused to enter into any compromise agreement, but that it would consider a

NOW CONFESS GUNS BLAZED AT SINKING VESSEL

"Shocking Blunder"

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Ambassador Hirosi Saito of Japan in a radio address to the American people confesses the Panay incident was a shocking blunder that amazed his government. He said safety of foreigners in China would be assured in the future by Japan. Page 2.

TOKIO—Increasing hostility between Japan and soviet Russia raises public's anxiety over world situation. Russian far eastern army reported being greatly strengthened along Manchukuo border. Page 3.

TOKIO, Dec. 20 [Monday].—(AP)—The foreign office spokesman admitted for the first time today that Japanese surface craft fired on the sinking United States gunboat Panay.

He indicated Japan would plead self-defense for the surface vessel's attack on the American gunboat after she was bombed by Japanese war planes Dec. 12 on the Yangtze river.

It was believed Japan would contend that the Panay shifted her position without sufficient notification to Japanese authorities.

Reverses Former Denials.

His statement reversed former categorical denials of attacks on the Panay's survivors and of the presence of Japanese surface craft at the time.

"I denied the report because I was so informed," he declared, "and believed it.

"On the basis of information received only a few moments ago I must change the statement.

Asks Which Fired First.

"It is true a Japanese boat was near the Panay. The most important point to be cleared now is which fired first. Soldiers aboard the Japanese boat believed the Panay fired on them."

The spokesman, nevertheless, refused to state definitly whether the Japanese surface vessel fired machine guns despite his reference to "which fired first."

TSINGTAO PERIL GROWS

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Dec. 20 [Monday].—Conditions at Tsingtao, principal port of Shantung province and 390 miles north of Shanghai, are becoming more precarious hourly, British and American oil company officials here said this morning.

There are extensive American, British, and Japanese tobacco, oil and cotton interests at Tsingtao. The largest foreign holding was the Japanese cotton mills valued at nearly $100,000,000. These mills were completely destroyed by fires which were set yesterday by Chinese and blazed through today.

[Tokio reports said nine big mills with a total of 500,000 spindles and normally employing 24,000 Chinese workers were destroyed].

U. S. Warships Reach Scene.

There was an unverified report that the Japanese navy had commenced a bombardment of Tsingtao, but a naval spokesman said no attack had begun. However, a 6 p. m. curfew was put into effect by Chinese authorities.

The American consulate announced that there was no looting, no disorders and that no Japanese forces were in evidence.

The United States cruiser Marblehead and the destroyer Pope reached Tsingtao today, joining the gunboat Sacramento which was already there, to protect and evacuate if necessary some 300 American residents.

Postpone Augusta's Departure.

The Marblehead was to have relieved the cruiser Augusta here, but Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, commander of the United States' Asiatic fleet, announced that the sailing of the Augusta for Manila, scheduled for Saturday, was postponed indefinitly because of the Tsingtao crisis.

The British cruiser Suffolk was standing by at Tsingtao and two British destroyers were sent there from Weihaiwei.

Tsingtao, a city of 600,000, and its environs has been a famous summer resort for people of Central and South China. As a result of the world war Japan took over rich German interests there and further developed them until Tsingtao was one of her most important economic spheres in China.

Navy Withdrawn Earlier.

The Japanese said their navy was withdrawn from Tsingtao months ago to forestall any complication in that area. Soon after the outbreak of the Chinese-Japanese hostilities some 25,000 Japanese civilians were evacuated to Japan.

A Japanese navy spokesman said that Japan considers the "wanton destruction of the Tsingtao mills as being without provocation" and "deplorable."

Foreign military observers here asserted the Chinese action was a strategic move on the part of Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, "strong man" of China, to counteract Japanese mobilization in the Canton area of South China.

Fear Attack on Canton.

Chinese were reported to be rapidly evacuating Canton and foreigners were gathering at convenient water departure points. A Japanese plane made an unsuccessful attempt to bomb the central railway station early this morning.

[Japanese war planes on Saturday heavily bombed railways around Canton. Chinese reports said the planes flew over Shameen, the foreign settlement of Canton, and were fired on by French troops on duty there. French authorities would not confirm this.]

The Chinese news agency announced that thirty Japanese warships were in the vicinity of Foochow. Foochow is the large Chinese port nearest to Formosa, Japanese island which has been the base for extensive air raids on the South Chinese coast. The Japanese were said to be moving troops from the Shanghai and Nanking zone to the Canton area.

Seek to Save Hangchow.

A prominent missionary who returned last night from Hangchow, capital of Chekiang province southwest of Shanghai, said the Japanese army was advancing on Hangchow in two columns moving southwestward from Nanking. Negotiations were reported under way to induce the Japanese to spare Hankow, a famed Chinese beauty spot.

Twenty thousand armed and disarmed Chinese soldiers who have discarded their uniforms still infest Nanking, a Japanese military spokesman announced.

The Hsiakwan industrial settlement, between Nanking's walls and the Yangtze river, virtually has been destroyed by fire since the occupation began because of the uncontroled remnants of opposition.

War Threatens to Spread to Three More Areas of China

Map shows three new danger spots of China. Attacks by Japanese on Tsingtao, important part of Shantung province, and Canton, major city of southern China, are believed imminent. Japanese armies, which captured Shanghai and Nanking are already preparing to move on Hankow, new temporary capital of China. The Chinese government, in turn, is preparing to flee 1,000 miles farther up the Yangtze to Chungking. Portions of map in black represent parts of China and continental Asia already conquered by Japan.

JAPS CONFESS PANAY SINKING WAS A BLUNDER

Declare Incident Will Not Occur Again.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 19.—[Special.]—Japan went to the people of the United States tonight with a confession that the bombing and sinking of the Panay and three oil tankers last Sunday was a shocking blunder. All Japanese are eager to make amends, Ambassador Hirosi Saito told the radio audience in a short broadcast.

Saito told his listeners he had offered an official expression of regret to the government under instructions from Tokio.

Text of Envoy's Statement.

The text of Saito's statement follows:

"The attacks made last Sunday by Japanese naval aircraft on the American gunboat Panay and the three Standard Oil vessels on the Yangtze river was a shocking blunder. The Japanese government and people are grieved beyond expression of words on account of the unfortunate occurence. Apologies and regrets have gone officially and unofficially from all quarters in Japan to your representatives and to your citizens residing in my country.

"Acting under instructions from home I myself have offered official expression of regrets to your government. Amends, of course, all Japanese are only too anxious to make. Indemnities, our government has already declared its intention to pay.

Can't Redeem Lives.

"The material loss is hardly of moment. What is impossible to redeem is the loss of life. No compensation which mortal man can make for that is adequate for the families bereft. This, therefore, we must deplore.

"Our authorities had, of course, no thought that such a blunder could have occurred and they were amazed when the news of it came. But now that it has occurred, they are doing their best to see that no repetition of similar incidents should occur.

"The naval officer who was in command of the aircraft squadron in Shanghai has been dismissed and recalled home. All other necessary steps are being and will be taken so that guarantees of safety will in the future be assured all foreign persons and interests."

OUTBURST ALARMS TOKIO

BY KIMPEI SHEBA.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Dec. 20 [Monday].—Tokio is alarmed at the latest outburst of anti-Japanism in China, and it is expected that the highest war, navy, and foreign office authorities, meeting today will discuss measures to be taken, since the trouble at Tsingtao shows signs of spreading to other parts.

Reports this morning also said an attempt is being made to seize the Japanese concession in Hankow. The Japanese owned Taiwan spinning mills at Hankow were reported destroyed.

The situation in Tsingtao was assuming serious proportions. The Chinese troops were charged with pouring gasoline on every Japanese mill, then setting them afire. Fanned by a strong wind, the fires leveled much of the city and martial law was being enforced, Japanese officials in China reported.

Aim at All Jap Property.

The defeat of the Chinese troops at Shanghai and Nanking has resulted it is asserted, in the launching of a nation-wide campaign to destroy all Japanese property in China.

The Japanese government attaches considerable importance to this new movement. Shingo Tsuda, head of the Kanego-fuchi Spinning company, one of the largest in the world, and owners of most of the Tsingtao mills, estimated the losses at 100 million dollars.

Flees Holdup and Is Shot by Robber as He Falls

Donald Bennett, 32 years old, 1451 East 71st place, was shot in the left arm early today when he tried to run from three colored bandits at 77th street and Cornell avenue. He slipped and fell in his flight and one of the trio shot him.

BRITAIN WANTS FLEET FREED TO DEAL WITH JAPS

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 19.—British ministers have been in contact with Paris this week-end about France taking over a bigger share of naval responsibilities in the Mediterranean. Britain is pressing France to act because of the possibility that the British may have to reinforce their fleet in the far east in face of the Japanese threat in the vicinity of Hongkong.

The British naval forces in the Mediterranean at present consist of two battleships, two battle cruisers, eight cruisers, seven destroyers, six motor torpedo boats, and seven submarines.

French Cold to Plan.

The French, with one eye on Hitler and Mussolini, argue against weakening naval strength in European waters, and it is suggested here tonight that Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden may go to Paris for direct talks.

Political circles here are reported to be disappointed over the Washington attitude on Japan. The British contact with the United States on the Sino-Japanese war has been close, but not close enough, according to British ideas. Britain is said to be disappointed that so far, at any rate, the United States is not prepared to take definite joint action with Great Britain in the far east.

Fear Hongkong Threat.

The Japanese occupation of the rich South China hinterland would seriously threaten valuable British trade through Hongkong. If developments in the far east make naval reinforcements necessary, the British are planning to put on a big show and, it is said here, the whole Mediterranean fleet might participate. In order that such action may take place swiftly, the cabinet will be asked to give it provisional approval.

Throughout the six weeks of the parliamentary Christmas recess which begins Thursday, a "skeleton" cabinet will be on duty to watch the far eastern situation.

THEATER MIRRORS SMASHED.

A dozen mirrors and fifty light bulbs were smashed in the lobby of the Harper theater, 5236 Harper avenue, early yesterday by vandals who apparently concealed themselves in the theater Saturday night. Bert Butte, 3120 West 44th street, is the manager.

GEN. LUDENDORFF IS DEAD; FAMED HINDENBURG AID

Organized Kaiser's Army for It's Last Stand.

up. Two weeks later their captor was made a general and sent to Hindenburg as the latter's chief of staf.

Ludendorff won further fame in the battle of Tannenberg on the eastern front, where he and Hindenburg drove the Russians out of Prussia.

Ludendorff's part in victories on the eastern front was fully recognized. He was made a lieutenant general in November, 1914. For another year he and Hindenburg were busy clearing the Russians out of Poland, threatening the rear of armies which were slowly pressing back the troops of Germany's ally, Austria.

Ludendorff Is Promoted.

Then, in 1916, Hindenburg was made chief of the general staf; Ludendorff was named chief quartermaster general, and they went to the western front. The German army, checked at Verdun, was forced to defend itself that year against an allied offensive on the Somme. The allied naval blockade was tightened after the battle of Jutland in May, and its effect began to be felt in Germany.

Ludendorff and Hindenburg joined in opposing "ruthless submarine warfare" when that measure was proposed as a means of breaking the blockade. Ludendorff saw it as likely to bring the United States into the war, although he was convinced that the allies could be beaten before that could happen.

He was all for crushing Germany's foes and opposed sporadic peace movements that came up late in 1916 and early in 1917. On Aug. 19, 1917, he was injured near Brussels in a train wreck which was reported as having been plotted in an attempt on his life because of his anti-peace attitude.

Then Russia collapsed as a belligerent and in March, 1918, the new bolshevik régime withdrew from the war. Ludendorff saw an opportunity for bringing the conflict to a victorious conclusion by a smashing offensive in the Champagne that would clear the way to Paris, wipe out what little was left of Belgium, and roll the British, split from the French, back onto the channel ports before the incoming American troops could be organized into an effective army.

Removed from His Post.

For a time the German offensive made headway. But on May 27, the German wave reached high tide on the banks of the Marne at Château Thierry. The ebb, slow and stubborn at first, accelerated under the allied counter-offensive, the St. Mihiel salient was wiped out, the Hindenburg line was penetrated and revolution swept Germany.

Under pressure of political leaders, the kaiser, on Oct. 24, 1918, removed Ludendorff from his post as quartermaster general. Ensuing the danger that he might be tried for prolonging the war he slipped away to Sweden in January, 1919, but he came back in the spring.

Ludendorff broke with Hitler in 1931, when he made a violent attack on the Nazis, in the Volkswarte, painting a gloomy picture of civil war if the party continued its then policies. Early in 1932, he made a sharp personal attack on Capt. Ernst Roehm, and on Hitler for according Roehm a high place in the party. The Volkswarte was suppressed for three months shortly after Hitler took over the government.

Makes Peace With Hitler.

A reconciliation was effected between Hitler and the aged warrior, however, on March 30, 1937. After a brief talk with Hitler, Ludendorff's title "The Field Lord of the World War" was officially recognized. Ludendorff acknowledged Hitler's political triumphs completely. Also, he approved the Fuehrer's destruction of "the shameful Versailles Treaty."

A week after the reconciliation, reports that Ludendorff would return to the army or that Hitler had accepted the general's Nordic paganism were vigorously denied by Hitler. It was only a friendly conversation, he said, and had "merely a human purpose."

Ludendorff married twice, but was childless. In August, 1909, he was wed to Margarethe Pernet, a divorcée. Two of her sons, aviators, died in the war. Margarethe won a divorce on July 9, 1926.

On Sept. 14 Ludendorff married a widow, Dr. Mathilde von Kemnitz, a noted nerve specialist, who had been one of Ludendorff's ardent followers in his post-war controversies. He was her third husband.

AMERICANS PLAN TO FLEE HANKOW AND AVOID RAIDS

HANKOW, Dec. 19.—(AP)—The United States embassy today was making arrangements to evacuate the new capital of China, Hankow, "Chicago of China," which became one of three seats of the government only a few days before Nanking fell to the Japanese advance.

Three hundred Americans in this district were expected to flee the refugee swollen city and its environs at the first sign of Japanese bombardment from the Yangtze river or the air.

The Japanese have given guarantees of safe passage for Americans and British by train south to Hongkong. A shortage of railroad coaches, the question of abandoning Hankow was a serious one for them, as they have no other place to go or other means of livelihood.

In addition to a large number of American missionaries there are many long established American business firms in Hankow. Some families have lived here a decade or more and the question of abandoning Hankow was a serious one for them, as they have no other place to go or other means of livelihood.

JAPS TALK ABOUT CRISIS WITH U. S., BUT FEAR RUSSIA

Hear Reds Mass Troops on Siberian Border.

TOKIO, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Increasing hostility between Japan and the soviet union, rather than the American-Japanese crisis arising from the Panay sinking, today was the chief reason for the Japanese public's anxiety over the world situation.

The Japanese masses were kept in ignorance of recent developments in the Panay affair. United States charges that Japanese surface craft machine gunned the little gunboat after she was bombed by Japanese warplanes on the Yangtze river above Nanking have been kept out of the newspapers.

The public generally believed that the Panay crisis had been dispelled. Deep concern over the affair, however, persisted in high official quarters, as was shown by the detailed report made to Emperor Hirohito last night by Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoe.

Red Eastern Army Strengthened.

While the press ignored the Panay incident it gave prominence to mounting troubles with Russia. The Harbin, Manchukuo, correspondent of the Tokio paper Nichi Nichi reported the Russian far eastern army was being greatly strengthened, with men, munitions and airplanes being rushed toward the borders of far eastern Siberia by the trans-Siberian railway day and night.

The fisheries dispute with Russia developed dangerous possibilities. The foreign office announced it had received a communication from an organization of 20,000 Japanese fishermen urging action to safeguard Japan's fishing rights in northern waters "which were obtained by the sweat and blood of our forefathers."

The existing agreement covering Japan's rights to fish in Russia's far eastern territorial waters expires at the end of this year. In spite of strong Japanese pressure, Moscow has evaded conclusion of a new agreement, and Japanese leaders have hinted at forcible action to protect Japan's important fishing industry in Russian waters.

[The original rights were given Japan by the treaty of Portsmouth of 1905, part of the fruits of her victory over Russia in war. They were restated in a Russo-Japanese agreement of 1925, revised and extended on various occasions since.]

Stock Market Recedes.

Apparently under influence of the Russian war cloud nearly all important shares receded on the Tokio exchange last week. This was in spite of the assurance of the Chugai Shogyo Shimpo, leading financial organ, that internal discord makes it "impossible for Russia to fight Japan under prevailing conditions."

Admiral Osami Nagano, member of the supreme war council, former navy minister and until recently commander of the combined fleet, declared that "it is Japan's sincere hope that the tragic Panay accident will serve to improve our relations with America."

Chinese reports reaching Hongkong last week said Admiral Nagano had been killed when Japan's big battleship Nagato was "sunk by a Chinese bombing plane" in the lower Yangtze river. The admiral said the Nagato had not been near the Chinese coast since hostilities began last summer. Previously the navy ministry had denied flatly reports of the Nagato's sinking.

Will Wed Asquith

DIANA BATTYE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 19.—The engagement of Miss Diana "Didi" Battye, 21 years old, a London society girl, and Michael Asquith, son of Lady Cynthia Asquith and a grandson of the first earl of Oxford and Asquith, will be formally announced soon, friends said tonight. Miss Battye is in Paris and Michael is in Germany studying languages. The announcement of the engagement is expected on their return.

In June Miss Battye's name was on the front pages when she disappeared for eight days and finally was found, sobbing hysterically and exhausted, on the steps next door to Lady Cynthia's London house. She said she had left her home to mail a letter to her fiancé and after that could not remember what had happened to her.

NAVY IS ASKING 50 MILLIONS TO ENLARGE FLEET

Washington, D. C., Dec. 19.—(AP)—The navy department, determined to build a fleet of record peacetime size, has asked congress for a 50 million dollar increase in its annual appropriation, members of the house appropriations committee said today.

The added money would finance the start of construction of two new 60 million dollar battleships in addition to two already authorized; two light cruisers, eight destroyers, six submarines, one mine sweeper, one submarine tender, one oiler, and one fleet tug.

8 HIGH SOVIET OFFICIALS SHOT IN NEW PURGE

Ambassador Leo Karakhan Among Victims.

MOSCOW, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Execution of eight important officials of long standing in the soviet régime was announced tonight on the 20th anniversary of the Russian secret political police. The announcement said they were shot for high treason.

The eight were the latest victims of the purge of suspected enemies within the state.

Leo M. Karakhan, formerly vice commissar of foreign affairs, who recently was recalled as ambassador to Turkey, was among those executed.

Stalin's Friend a Victim.

Avel Yenukidze, a veteran of the revolution and secretary of the central executive committee of the communist party until 1935, also faced the firing squad. He was a close friend of Josef Stalin, Russian dictator, until his arrest on charges of immorality removed him from the inner Kremlin circle.

Boris C. Steiger, former Baltic baron and friend of many ambassadors, was among those executed. For 12 years he was attached to the foreign diplomatic corps at Moscow to investigate its members. He was reported missing last April. Steiger was one of the Russians intimately acquainted with United States Ambassador William Bullitt, now envoy to France.

The executed prisoners were tried Dec. 16 and sentenced by the military collegium of the supreme court in secret sessions. Tass, official Russian news agency, reported they were found guilty of terroristic activities and systematic espionage for benefit of an unnamed foreign state. The agency said all the accused pleaded guilty. The death sentences presumably were carried out within 24 hours.

Old Bolshevik Dies.

The others put to death were:

V. P. Larin, an old bolshevik who formerly was a member of the central committee of the communist party.

Vladimir Jukermann, director of the department of eastern affairs, a foreign office post which dealt largely with problems concerning Turkey, Arabia, Afghanistan and Iran [Persia].

B. P. Sheboldaeff, former chief secretary of the communist party for North Caucasus who became famous for his deportations of Cossacks in 1932.

E. B. Orakhelashvilli, old Georgian bolshevik, and A. D. Meteleff, whose name was unknown in foreign circles.

Vice Premier Two Years.

Orakhelashville, a former president of the Transcaucasian republic, was vice premier of soviet Russia for two years by virtue of his vice chairmanship of the council of peoples' commissars. One of the founders of the communist party in 1903, he was at one time a member of the party's central executive committee and an editor of Pravda, official party newspaper.

An official radio broadcast tonight announced completion of a new 1,800 mile railroad north of and paralleling the far eastern section of the Trans-Siberian railway.

The new line, constructed with utmost secrecy because of its tremendous military importance, runs from Karymskaya, east of Lake Baikal, to Khabarovsk, 150 miles from the Pacific ocean. At Khabarovsk it joins a branch of the Trans-Siberian which runs from there down to Vladivostok.

Its construction was carried on at top speed to provide the soviet army with sufficient transportation facilities to wage defensive warfare in far eastern Siberia and along the shores of the Pacific. Czarist Russia's inability to move troops and supplies rapidly across Siberia was a fatal weakness in the 1904 war with Japan.

900,000 JAPANESE NOW UNDER ARMS ON CHINESE SOIL

Washington, D. C., Dec. 19.—(AP)—The Japanese have more than 900,000 soldiers in China and Manchuria, informed persons said today on the basis of unpublished dispatches from the far east. They split the total as follows:

Manchukuo 300,000 to 350,000, including 190,000 in Kwantung province.

Peiping area, 200,000 to 250,000.

Yangtze area, 250,000 to 300,000, around Canton.

A smaller force in South China

Nine-tenths of the total is composed of Japanese, they said, but there are many Chinese in the Kwantung force of 190,000. They expressed belief the huge force of 300,000 to 350,000 was being kept in Manchukuo as a warning to soviet Russia to keep quiet during the Sino-Japanese hostilities.

Russia's New Far East Life Line

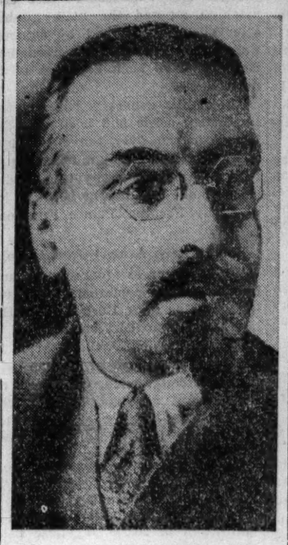
After completing the double tracking of the Trans-Siberian railway soviet Russia began construction of another line to the north of the old one. This was done to afford added communication with its far east territories.

Shot for Treason



Leo M. Karakhan, formerly vice commissar of foreign affairs in Russia, who was recently recalled as ambassador to Turkey. He was one of eight leaders executed by the soviet regime, it was announced yesterday.

Avel Yenukidze, a veteran of the Red revolution and former leader of the communist party, also faced the firing squad.

Here are most of Miss Teasdale's poems—from other volumes, such as Helen of Troy, Rivers to the Sea, Love Songs, Flame and Shadow, Dark of the Moon, Stars Tonight, Strange Victory, and a few from Sonnets to Duse. FRANK KELLOGG, TREATY AUTHOR, IS GRAVELY ILL

St. Paul, Minn., Dec. 19.—(AP)—Frank B. Kellogg, former secretary of state under Coolidge and winner of the Nobel peace prize in 1929, was reported critically ill of pneumonia today by his physician, Dr. J. A. Lepak.

Dr. Lepak said the pneumonia developed while Kellogg, who will be 81 years old next Wednesday, lay ill following a stroke six weeks ago.

"There is virtually no hope for his recovery," said Dr. Lepak. "It is just a matter of hours."

Kellogg has been afflicted at times with partial paralysis of the body as a result of the stroke, his physician said.

Kellogg is an internationally known diplomat. He is author of the famous Kellogg peace pact. He is a former ambassador to Great Britain, served as a world court judge from 1929 to 1935, and is a former senator from Minnesota.

JAIL IMPROVED IN 1937 BY BETTER ELECTRIC CHAIR

Among the major improvements at the county jail in 1937 was the permanent installation of the electric chair, according to the annual report given out yesterday by Sherif John Toman and Warden Fran Sain.

The chair heretofore was removed from storage and clamped in place just before each scheduled execution. It is now permanently affixed to a rubber floor, with all wires in place.

The report also said that the Criminal court building received its first over-all cleaning since it was opened in 1929, and that the jail, too, was given a general overhauling. There was a total of 9,304 prisoners in 1937.

Young Gunmen Get $634 in Italian Lodge Holdup

Two young gunmen stole $634 in cash and checks yesterday in a holdup of the offices of the Societa Alleanza Riciglianese, an Italian lodge, on the third floor at 772 West Taylor street. Pasquale De Leonardis, 1250 Loyola avenue, the treasurer, and two other officers were forced to lie on the floor during the robbery. The bandits, who were masked, escaped in a car driven by an accomplice.

LOYALISTS BREAK TERUEL DEFENSE; BATTLE RAGES ON

MADRID, Dec. 20.—[Monday.]—(AP)—A government communique today announced launching of a general government assault on Teruel after penetrating outer defenses of the insurgent spearhead aimed at Madrid-Valencia communication lines.

The announcement after midnight said fighting was continuing under the glare of government searchlights sweeping the besieged city.

Heavy fighting in Teruel's outskirts was reported. The government said several insurgent counter-attacks had been repulsed.

Insurgents Say Lines Hold.

Two government planes were lost in the offensive.

[Dispatches to Hendaye, on the Franco-Spanish frontier said the city's Muela sector had fallen and the Barcelona war ministry predicted capture of Teruel would mean collapse of the entire insurgent salient thrusting toward Madrid's communications. Insurgent advices acknowledged the offensive was continuing, but a communique from the Salamanca headquarters said "enemy attacks continue to break against our position in the Teruel sector."

In Madrid the government advance was hailed as the most decisive blow struck by the government in recent months.

Munition Stores Taken.

It was said the government strategy of advancing on Teruel from three sides, cutting enemy lines and drawing a siege circle took the insurgents by surprise, was accomplished without a hitch.

The government said important insurgent munitions stores were captured in taking the Muela sector.

Assessor Looks Into Airport Land Situation.

County Assessor John S. Clark yesterday announced he has begun a study of the values of the land needed for expansion of Chicago airport, and an investigation to determine how it happens to be carried on his assessment rolls as nonindustrial property with a full valuation of only $1,000 an acre.

The appraisal for taxing purposes, the assessor declared, is in strange contrast to the value placed on the property for sales purposes by Raymond E. Herman, the owner, who has demanded $65,323 for 2.78 acres. This is at the rate of $23,497 an acre. The city has offered $20,000 for the 2.78 acres sought and Arthur Kruggel, president of the Chicago Real Estate board, said $27,407 was plenty for the land sought by the city.

The assessor also said that he was eager to get a proper classification of Herman's holdings. In negotiations with the city, Herman termed his land highly valuable industrial property and had it appraised by a special industrial land appraisal committee of the Chicago realty board. But to the taxing officials of the county, Herman represents it as a cheap nonindustrial area.

5 Men on Appraisal Committee.

The special industrial property appraisal committee of the Chicago Real Estate board which made the valuation upon which Herman had based his price of $65,323 for the 2.78 acres desired by the city consisted of the following men:

John J. Fischer, 10 S. La Salle street, chairman; John F. Jones of Jones and Kerfoot, 134 North La Salle street; William H. Hart of Hart and Whetston, 1 North La Salle street; Lester W. Porter of Hodge, Nicholson & Porter, Inc., 231 South La Salle street, and Louis B. Beardslee of Louis B. Beardslee & Co., 100 North La Salle street.

Jones and Hart are friends of Herman. Fischer, Porter and Beardslee are members of a real estate brokers' club to which Herman belongs.

What city officials term Herman's obvious efforts to overcharge the city resulted last Saturday in the calling off of the deal. Mayor Kelly denounced Herman's price demands as "unconscionable and exorbitant" and set engineers to perfecting an entirely new airport enlargement program.

Direct Purchase Avoided.

Under this new plan the city will avoid making any direct purchase of Herman's land. The Chicago and Western Indiana railroad tracks which now block the airport expansion will be moved to a new right of way either north or south of 55th street. If to the south, the tracks will be along the northern boundary of the airport; if to the north they will be on land taken from Herman by condemnation.

The original plan had called for transfer of the C. & W. I. tracks from their present position to the right of way of the Indiana Harbor Belt line which bisects a tract of 103.31 acres owned by Herman at a point about a block north of 55th street. In order to do this the city would have to buy not only the land but also reversionary rights held by Herman.

Assessor Clark's interest in Herman's holdings was aroused yesterday during a routine examination of all nonindustrial land records for the county. To the assessor's surprise he discovered that Herman's tract, an area bounded by 55th street, Cicero, Archer, and Laramie avenues, was so listed.

Calling for the complete record on the land, the assessor noted that its full value for 1936 tax appraisal purposes was fixed at $1,000 an acre. This valuation was possible, the assessor said, only because so-called "nonindustrial vacant land" is generally considered to be of far less value than important industrial properties.

Acreage Valuation Studied.

"This of course," said the assessor, "is very much a surprise to me. I want to know how and why the land is classified as nonindustrial on my records, yet the owner has it appraised for sales purposes by a special industrial property appraisal committee of the real estate board and represents it to the city as extremely valuable ground.

"Then there's that matter of the acreage valuation to look into. I see Herman wants $65,323 for 2.78 acres. That price is considerably more than half the value put on his entire 103 plus acres for tax purposes. Apparently we've been overlooking a source of considerable tax revenue.

Proposes Hearing for Herman.

"At any rate, when I have all the facts in hand I propose to serve notice on Herman and hold a hearing to determine the proper classification of his land. If the facts warant, I shall look into the ways and means used to arrive at the nonindustrial rating for his land. Perhaps this may mean a revision of all his last four tax bills."

Examination of the tax records by the assessor disclosed this history of Herman's land:

Back in the boom days of 1928 the value of his tract, which really consists of two roughly quadrangular parcels of 50 acres each, divided by the I. H. B. tracks, was appraised at a full value of $4,500 an acre for taxing purposes.

Reduced in 1931.

The quadrennial reassessment in 1931, however, brought a reduction. The full value of the entire 103.81 acres was fixed at $141,358 by the assessor's office. The assessed value, which is 37 per cent of the full value, was placed at $52,355.

This was revised still further in 1932, due to protestations made in the assessor's office by Herman. For that year the full value was $138,809 and the assessed value of the entire tract placed at $51,411. This appraisal for 1932, as in prior years, classified the land as industrial property.

In that year, according to the tax books, Herman made a request for a reclassification of his land. A committee was appointed and after a brief hearing the property was listed on the assessor's rolls as "vacant, nonindustrial," as it is today. This change of classification brought a still further revision for 1932.

Value Cut to $83,421.

The full value was reduced to $83,421 and the assessed value thus became $30,897. Herman was able to obtain full benefit of this second 1932 readjustment because he delayed payment of his taxes until the final revised tax bill was made out. Assessor Clark said that he was particularly anxious to investigate all the circumstances of this reclassification of the land.

One of the circumstances in connection with the reclassification which the assessor said yesterday he was unable to understand was the fact when the land was reclassified on the valuation lists, the plats or land maps which are part of the assessment records were not changed. On the maps the property still is listed as industrial land.

The assessor also pointed out that the city council has definitly zoned the area in which Herman's property lies as industrial property. He declared that the assessor who was in charge of the office in 1932, when the reclassification was allowed, was proceeding directly against the city's own zoning laws.

Final Value $1,000 an Acre.

About 1934, the records show, the Herman land was given a slightly increased full value for tax assessment purposes. The parcel north of the I. H. B. tracks [53.32 acres] was fixed at $1,000 an acre. The parcel south of the tracks [50.49 acres] was rated at $1,200 an acre.

In the 1935 quadrennial assessment the full value was reduced to $1,000 an acre for the entire 103.81 acre tract. The full value for 1936 of the entire area was $103,717 and the assessed value was $38,414.

Remembers Robinsons

[TRIBUNE Photo.]
ISABEL WALSH.

New York, Dec. 19.—[Special.]—Agents of the federal department of state, pursuing their quest for clews to the identity of "Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Robinson" who disappeared mysteriously in Moscow, were continuing their efforts today to untangle the passport plot by means of which the missing couple was enabled to pose as reputable Americans.

Among those who have been questioned was Isabel Walsh, former employé of the Drama League Travel bureau. Miss Walsh said she recalled the day "Mrs. Robinson" called for her passport, which had been addressed to the bureau. The description Miss Walsh gave of the woman did not, however, seem to coincide closely with photographs of "Mrs. Robinson."

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

These couples celebrated their 25th wedding anniversaries together yesterday. They are (top to bottom) Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Olinger, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Toppert, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Warner, Mr. and Mrs. George McNamara, and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Olinger.

Five couples, all married on Dec. 18 in Prophetstown, Ill., 25 years ago, observed their silver wedding anniversaries yesterday at 1843 South Avers avenue, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton T. Warner. Beside the Warners, they were: Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Olinger, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Olinger, Mr. and Mrs. George McNamara, and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Toppert. Clarence and Claude Olinger are twins.

The Warners moved to Chicago last August, but the others, friends since childhood, live in Prophetstown. The couples have a total of fourteen children.

7 ROBBERS GET $528 IN TAVERN.

City and county police were searching yesterday for a band of seven robbers, armed with a machine gun, a sawed off shotgun, and several pistols, who threatened 40 customers in a tavern at 817 West 123d street in Calumet Park before dawn and escaped with $528.

FIREMEN FIND BLAZE AT WRONG END OF THE HOSE

Long ago the general public learned why firemen wear red, white, and blue suspenders. Now at long last the villages of Des Plaines, Park Ridge, and Schiller Park have the answer to one other classic question about the fire laddies.

There was intense activity among the three departments when it was announced there was a fire in Louis Sass' barn. The Sass farm is on River road, south of Touhy avenue, and Des Plaines, favored by position, was the first to get its succor there in the form of a big red pumper.

The Long and Short of It.

On the pumper was 800 feet of hose, out of which grew a problem: How to get water from the Des Plaines river, 1,400 feet away. The quick arrival of a pumper from Park Ridge solved this one. It had some more hose and when the units were joined the red hats from Des Plaines went down to the river and pumped while the Park Ridgers took charge of the nozzle work.

Everything appeared to be in hand when the Des Plaines pumper, figuratively panting its heart out, burst its fuel line. Gasoline squirted on the hot exhaust manifold and the truck started blazing. There were chemical extinguishers aboard, but it was too hot to get to them and they might have burned up too if the Park Ridge department had not realized the situation.

Shuttle Service Provided.

Their pumper made a run to the Des Plaines fire engine fire and after something of a fight extinguished it. Then they backed their pumper down to the river's edge and sent some more water up to Sass' barn, where the volunteers from Schiller Park were lending a hand after a late arrival.

General results: $2,000 damages to the barn and the vegetables stored in it; $450 to the Des Plaines pumper. And the answer to that classic question, "What do firemen do when the fire engine catches fire?" is "They call a fire department and get it put out."

JUDGE GEIGER CALLED UNFAIR BY CUMMINGS

Charges Are Filed with House Committee.

decree correcting the alleged abuses. The companies were advised, the statement continued, that the government could give no assurances as to what action the grand jury might take.

While this tentative agreement was under consideration, the attorney general said, Judge Geiger objected to the negotiations.

"This department deferred to Judge Geiger's wish and canceled all conferences," says the Cummings letter. "Judge Geiger was not satisfied. Arbitrarily and against the protests of government counsel he recessed the grand jury and summoned the companies' attorneys to advise him about the conferences held with the department.

"He then proceeded to absolve the companies from prosecution by discharging the grand jury, although advised that the grand jury had voted to return indictments."

Judge Declines to Comment.

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 19.—[Special.]—Federal Judge Ferdinand A. Geiger tonight refused to comment on Attorney General Homer S. Cummings' charges filed with the house judiciary committee against the jurist for dismissing a grand jury here on Friday.

Judge Geiger was appointed to the federal court in the eastern district of Wisconsin by President Taft on the recommendation of Emanuel L. Philipp, who later was to become Wisconsin's governor during the world war. He has continued on the bench for nearly 30 years and having passed the age of 70, is eligible for retirement with full pay. He was born near Cassville, Wis., and was educated there and at the University of Wisconsin where he obtained his law degree. After graduation he practiced law in Milwaukee and was named to the federal bench direct from private practice.

BLIND CLERK TO TAKE OFFICE IN KENTUCKY JAN. 1

Whitesburg, Ky., Dec. 19.—[Special.]—When Cossie Quillen of Neon, a blind scoutmaster, takes office Jan. 1 as Letcher county clerk he will be the only blind man in office in the state.

Quillen was elected in the November election by the largest majority ever given a candidate in the county, although his opponent, one armed Cro Caudill, is an influential man. Long before the election the attorney general of the state gave his opinion that Quillen could hold the office by having a competent deputy or assistant.

Mrs. Quillen, a rural teacher and well qualified, will be her husband's chief deputy. Quillen will affix his signature to important papers.

Quillen was blinded by the shots of an assassin while leading a party of Boy Scouts through the mountains on a camping trip two years ago.

BOY SHOT WHILE HUNTING.

Racine, Wis., Dec. 19.—[Special.]—August Lange, 14 years old, was accidentally shot in the foot today by his companion, Elmer Walvig, 18 years old, of West Allis, while the two were hunting. The accident occurred on a farm owned by Lange's parents.

STORM POUNDS GROUNDED LINER; BREAKUP FEARED

Skeleton Crew Abandons Stricken Hoover.

MANILA, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Heavy gales and high seas tonight were reported threatening destruction to the helpless $8,000,000 luxury liner President Hoover, aground on rocky Hioshoto Island near Formosa. Naval radio advices said conditions aboard had become so threatening that a skeleton crew had to abandon ship.

The storm struck the little island early this morning, raging all day and on into the night. The 21,900 ton vessel was on an exposed portion of the shore and maritime circles here said the wind and seas might reduce her to wreckage. With 453 passengers and a crew of 408, the Dollar liner ran into Hioshoto's rocks on Dec. 10 while following a new course between Kobe, Japan, and Manila. Capt. George Yardley and the crew immediately removed the passengers to Hioshoto and another nearby island. The Dollar liner President McKinley picked up the passengers and landed them here last Wednesday.

TAXI COMMITTEE MEETS TODAY TO DISCUSS RATES

Members of the city council local transportation committee will meet today for further discussion of an ordinance which would raise Chicago taxicab mileage rates approximately 33 1-3 per cent and limit the number of cabs to 3,000.

The ordinance was presented to the committee last Friday after eight months of heated discussions about the cab problem. It proposes installation of the so-called New York rate, which is 20 cents for the flag pull charge for a quarter of a mile, and 5 cents for each additional quarter of a mile.

The increase in rates, according to Michael Sokol, president of the Checker Cab company, and Benjamin Samuels, president of the Chicago Yellow Cab company, will raise drivers' average wages from $18 to $24 a week.

FACE AND FEELINGS INJURED; JOB GONE; MAY LOSE HIS BRIDE

Baltimore, Md., Dec. 19.—[Special.]—Donald Crane of Laurel nursed bruises and injured feelings in seclusion today. He just has been married, just lost his job and may lose his wife.

Crane was secretary and valet to William F. Keyser until Friday when he and Keyser's sister, Jane, 23 years old, eloped to Rockville, Md., and were married. Then they returned to the Keyser home to ask for blessings. Apparently they didn't receive them, because a short time later when he appeared alone in Laurel, Crane's face was bruised, but he wouldn't talk. The bride is in seclusion in the home of her mother and brother.

November Jobs 25 Pct. Fewer Than in October

Washington, D. C., Dec. 19.—[Special.]—Private placements in November by the United States employment service were 25.1 per cent less than in October and 0.8 per cent below November, 1936, the latter being the first decrease in eighteen months from the corresponding month of a year earlier. Secretary Perkins gave total placements in November as 224,226, of which 157,531 were in private industry and the remainder in either relief or non-relief public jobs. The active file of job-seekers increased to 4,421,076.

ACT TO AVERT GAS BLASTS IN KANE COUNTY SCHOOLS

E. Earl McCoy, superintendent of schools in Kane county, yesterday ordered all county school rooms into which water is pumped from nearby deep wells to be properly ventilated pending efforts to prevent explosions resulting from an accumulation of the dangerous methane gas.

Tests by state geologists in recent weeks led to the discovery of the gas, also known as marsh gas and black damp, in twelve school districts. Geologists have warned that a 5 per cent accumulation in a confined area may lead to an explosion.

Schools in Wasco and Illinois Park townships already have arranged for the installation of a system to aërate water flowing from wells to the schools, thus driving the gas into the atmosphere.

SET FOR SANTA? FIVE DAYS FOR LAST ROUNDUP

Chicago Enters Christmas Homestretch Today.

BY MARCIA WINN.

You may be ready for Christmas, but the chances are 100 to 1 that your neighbor is not. He either has not started his Christmas shopping, or he has a thousand loose ends to tie up.

That is the principal reason why Chicago today enters its busiest scramble of 1937—the final five day roundup before Christmas.

This is a scramble not only for presents, which must be selected, bought, and wrapped, but for Christmas trees, for getting bundles into the mail, for catching or meeting trains, and for sending that extra Christmas card to Aunt Nellie, whom you almost forgot.

Many Window Shoppers.

Even yesterday was a Sunday of rare activity. Trade centers, usually deserted, were thronged with window shoppers. Many cars flaunted newly purchased Christmas trees on fender or roof. Railroad stations, trains already running with extra sections, were crowded with incoming and outgoing Christmas guests.

Despite Postmaster Ernest Kruetgen's "Mail Early" placards, postal clerks were buried under an avalanche of packages and greeting cards. What is more [and worse], the avalanche, they fear, has just begun. That 50 per cent of the people which has always lacked foresight still lacks it, they sighed.

To cope with the enormous crowds, an additional trafic force of 35 men from the school police will be on duty from 1:30 to 5:30 p. m. today in the loop.

Luxury or Practical?

In answer to that oft repeated question: "Is this a practical or a luxury Christmas?" no one seems to know. Clothing, especially gloves, scarves, and ties, are selling rapidly. But so are perfume bottles, cocktail shakers, lace gowns, and silk pajamas.

One jeweler, however, said his business had been better than in 1936. Just Saturday a man came in, thumped down $10,000 and walked out with a diamond bracelet two inches wide. Diamond studded watches, with diamond bracelets, have sold well, and also a wrist watch that chimes the hour.

Beginning at 5:15 o'clock this evening, Chicagoans will have carols with their shopping. A two hour program of Christmas music will be broadcast over State street from a mile long amplification system by W-G-N and the State street council.

Dolls of Long Ago

Joan Bernstein at Chicago Historical society with exhibit of dolls (left to right) of 1862, 1865, and 1857, and a doll that was saved from the Chicago fire.

Christmas toys of the last century are on display now at the Chicago Historical society museum in a special holiday exhibit. Almost every stage of Chicago's progress is represented. Among the earliest toys are a doll found in Fort Dearborn and another made from a hickory stick.

Another doll was dressed in 1865 to be sold at a fair held to raise money for bandages in the civil war. Near it is Dora, a 1900 doll in beautiful dressmaker clothes.

Also in the display is a doll house built by Leonidas Badger in 1856 in Louisville, Ky., and brought by his children to Chicago. It has four rooms, each fitted with necessary gentlemen, ladies, butler and footmen.

NEIGHBORS FILL TONY'S HOME; SEE HIS BETHLEHEM

The neighbors of Tony Serratore, who lives at 621 South Aberdeen street, are thronging his house again: Tony's Bethlehem is ready once more. Tony's Bethlehem started twenty-eight years ago when his Christmas tree was burned. Tony's eldest child, then 3 years old, was heartbroken. Then Tony remembered how in the old country there always had been a miniature manger. And he went to work.

"The background I make out of cinders and cement," he explained yesterday. "The little people I bake out of clay and paint. We save the little people, but the other is new each year."

The group now includes more than 1,000 figures. "And it will not burn," Tony added proudly.

Ice and Film Star Guest of Good Fellow Group.

BY PHILIP MAXWELL.

Sonja Henie, Norwegian Olympic ice skating champion and Hollywood movie star, will make a personal appearance as a guest of Chicago Good Fellows this afternoon from 3:15 to 3:45 o'clock, at a Good Fellow Carol concert around the huge Christmas tree between Tribune Tower and the W-G-N radio studio. Miss Henie opens an engagement Christmas night with her ice revue at the Chicago Stadium.

Sonja Henie.

She will be welcomed to the concert today by Miss Helen Howe, director of music in the Chicago public schools, who is in charge of the 200 high school students on the carol program. The public is invited to this entertainment, the last 15 minutes of which will be heard over W-G-N.

Two Good Fellow Gatherings.

Yesterday afternoon two events heralded the opening of Good Fellow week in Chicago. Good Fellows and their families, numbering 600 persons, attended a coast-to-coast broadcast under the direction of Harold Stokes in the W-G-N main studio. Many others heard a recital by the Chicago Concert Chorus, conducted by Miss Lucy Atkinson at Miss Mathilde Ernestine's Beaux Arts salon in the Medinah club.

Good Fellows wish to thank the following for contributions: Mrs. Ora H. Snyder, for 50 boxes of candy which will be placed in baskets purchased with the money sent to the Good Fellow fund; the Continental Radio company, for 20 table radios to be given families who need them, and Stan Norris, orchestra leader, now playing at the Merry Garden ballroom, for writing, with Stan Lee Kapustka and Stan's brother, Bruce, a number entitled, "Good Fellow Song." The verse is as follows:

Hail to a group of friendly men,
Who think of those in need,
At Christmas time
With joy sublime,
They do their kind, good deed.

Avoid That Late Rush!

It is never too late to become a Good Fellow. But to save you that last minute rush, won't you call Superior 0100, the Good Fellow Bureau headquarters, and get the name of a needy family today? You'll want to get your basket of food, toys, and candy ready for delivery Christmas eve. If you do not wish to phone, fill in the Good Fellow coupon which accompanies this story and send it to the bureau in THE TRIBUNE'S Public Service office at 1 South Dearborn street.

CHURCHES BEGIN PREPARATIONS FOR CHRISTMAS

Many churches and religious groups began special preparations for Christmas yesterday, and in some instances Yuletide observances were held.

Two services were held at the Sunday Evening club in Orchestra hall. In one the social service department of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago presented a pageant of its year's work. In the other, the Rev. Dr. John Timothy Stone, president of Presbyterian Theological seminary, spoke.

The boy choir of Christ Episcopal church, 6451 Woodlawn avenue, rehersed yesterday for Christmas eve under the direction of Roger Tuttle. A large crèche was erected in front of old St. Peter's Roman Catholic church, Polk and Clark streets. The Rev. Leander Conley, Franciscan pastor, announced special services will start there today.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Dec. 19.—José Benito Ramirez, minister of finance and of public credit, made all government employés happy yesterday when December salaries were paid a week before the holidays to enable them to make purchases before Christmas. All received bonuses as revenues were the highest since the beginning of the depression. All employés will receive a vacation.

BIG GINGERCAKE IS HITLER'S FIRST CHRISTMAS GIFT

BERLIN, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler received his first 1937 Christmas present today, a huge lebkuchen, or gingercake. It was given him when he attended a holiday celebration of his chancellory staf, complete with Christmas tree and Santa Claus.

From Protestant pulpits it was announced that 110 church leaders, including the Rev. Martin Niemoeller, remained in custody, with no apparent prospect for their release before Christmas. Niemoeller is leader of Protestant opposition to the Nazi régime's church policies.

Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganda, caused 1,000 radio sets to be distributed free to the poor with an admonition to listen to the Fuehrer's Christmas eve message to the nation.

Today was "Golden Sunday," when, according to tradition, stores remain open for Christmas shopping. Streets were jammed with parcel-laden family groups.

C. I. O. DISRUPTED BY COMMUNISTS, LEADERS ADMIT

Funds Shut Off by Big Supporting Unions.

the members were paying dues. The final demand of Lewis, which Green flatly rejected, was that all the present officers of the C. I. O. unions be retained.

Mr. Green demanded that all the communist officers be ousted. He reminded Lewis of the report he prepared for congress back in 1924, denouncing the effort of the communists to seize control of the United Mine Workers and of the whole A. F. of L. He reminded Lewis that the constitution of his own United Mine Workers' union excludes communists from its membership.

Big Unions Balk.

On Oct. 22, THE TRIBUNE reported in a Washington dispatch that Lewis had received the sad news from his lieutenants that the large industrial unions would not go on financing the non-dues paying, paper unions in other fields. This occurred in Atlantic City, where the C. I. O. chiefs discussed plans for the forthcoming peace conference with the A. F. of L.

"We have paid as an international union—one of the five international unions—and those five are the only five international unions affiliated with the C. I. O. that ever have paid a dime per capita tax." Martin declared in Rockford. "These are the United Mine Workers, the United Rubber Workers, the United Automobile Workers, the International Ladies' Garment Workers, and the Amalgamated Clothing Workers. We have paid on every member we have—5 cents a month. For every 37½ cents we sent 5 cents to the national C. I. O."

Confirms Story of Break.

Martin then confirmed the story of the break with David Dubinsky, president of the Ladies' Garment Workers, saying:

"The I. L. G. W. U. has refused to pay per capita tax for the last two months to the national C. I. O. because of the way it has been run. Martin denounced Harry Bridges, Lewis' representative on the west coast, as one of the chief trouble makers in the C. I. O.

"He [Bridges] went so far as to go around to the automobile workers and the Ladies' Garment Workers and told them not to pay per capita tax to their international unions- that they could use it on the west coast, and not to send it to the international unions," Martin declared. "As far as I am concerned, until the C. I. O. gets ready to pull Mr. Bridges' horns he can go straight to hell. If the C. I. O. wants to play with them, let them play with us."

Bridges is one of the communist officers in the C. I. O. whom President Green of the A. F. of L. will not take into the fold. An alien, Bridges is subject to deportation and a warant for this purpose has been requested by the Seattle immigration and naturalization bureau, as well as by a Washington inspector who reviewed the case, but Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, a C. I. O. patroness, has refused to authorize the warrant.

695,858 SIGNED UP IN CAMPAIGN OF COMMUNITY FUND

A total of 695,858 individuals have contributed to the current Community Fund campaign, Gen. R. E. Wood, general chairman of the seventh annual appeal, announced yesterday.

This is the largest number of contributors ever recorded in a fund campaign, he said, and is an increase of 100,000 over 1936. The campaign opened Oct. 11 to raise $3,550,000 for the needs of 177 major social agencies of Chicago. To date, $3,440,000 has been raised.

WIZARD ARROWS' COACH AND THREE PLAYERS IN JAIL

The coach and three members of the Wizard Arrows, a Lake View neighborhood football team, were held by Sheffield avenue police yesterday as the result of a free-for-all fight in which John Hoban, 19 years old, 2053 Bissell street, was so severely beaten he may lose the sight of one eye. Hoban was in Alexian Brothers hospital.

The fight occurred outside the home of Miss Louise Gangloff, 859 Lill avenue, who entertained twenty guests at a party Saturday night. A dozen youths tried to crash the party and Hoban and several other male guests repulsed them in a fight. Police arrested Tony Pio, 20 years old, 838 Cleveland avenue, and Chester Pudelek, 20, of 2656 Wayne avenue, in the team's clubrooms, 2622 Lincoln avenue.

John Dorgan, 26 years old, 2764 Lincoln avenue, the coach, and Robert Megley, 19, of 2719 Magnolia avenue, another player, were arrested yesterday afternoon on the football field at Lane Tehcnical High school as they prepared to start a game for the neighborhood championship.

LIFER SENDS 9TH CHRISTMAS CARD TO JUDGE IN CASE

Buffalo, N. Y., Dec. 19.—(AP)—Supreme Court Justice Alonzo G. Hinkley, who nine years ago imposed a mandatory life sentence on Walter Sarnowski as a fourth offender, received his ninth Christmas card today from the prisoner at Auburn penitentiary.

This time, however, the card came with an inlaid wooden box bearing an intricate series of designs worked in match sticks.

"The jewel box," said a notation on Prisoner Sarnowski's Christmas card, "is for Mrs. Hinkley. Season's greetings."

Chicago Evangelist's Son Accidentally Shot; Dies

LANSING AUTO UNION REVOLTS AGAINST CHIEF

Object to Dictatorial Acts of Washburn.

Lansing, Mich., Dec. 19.—[Special.]—Members of Lansing local, No. 182, United Automobile Workers of America, are in revolt against the dictatorial régime of Lester Washburn, their president.

Washburn, who called the labor holiday here on June 7 and whose prestige apparently has been on the wane since that time, was warned at a meeting of the Fisher Body branch of the local late last night to stay away from future meetings of the branch. Washburn, who attended the session, heard himself declared incompetent to administer union affairs here.

Homer Martin Also Under Fire.

"We can run our own affairs," one Fisher employé asserted, as both Washburn and Homer Martin, U. A. W. A. international president, were assailed for inaugurating a Committee for Industrial Organization dictatorship which gives individual union members no voice in affairs and completely abolishes the Steward system under which bargaining committees have operated in the local plants since their unionization.

The meeting last night was the second of the day and the stormiest of the two. At the first meeting, Washburn, as presiding officer, had permitted only speakers favorable to him to have the floor, rebel members declared, and had ruled out of order a proposed resolution which would have shorn him of union power.

The Fisher employés' dictum to Washburn, formally cutting off their branch from the international in view of Martin's consistent support of Washburn as the tide of internal dissension here has mounted, also included Leo Feldspausch, vice president of the local, who likewise was told to keep out of the meetings.

Seek Parley on Breach.

Richard T. Frankensteen of Detroit, Martin's first lieutenant as assistant president of the U. A. W. A. international, was in Lansing today to attend a closed meeting of C. I. O. union representatives for discussion of the unemployment situation in Michigan. Members of the disaffected Fisher branch said they would seek a conference with him to discuss the local schism.

The resolution which Washburn barred from floor consideration yesterday contained demands for:

An audit of the union books; that the present officers be relieved of their duties and a representative committee of five members be placed in charge of the local's affairs; that the committee be given the right to discharge any or all members of the present officer staf, and that an itemized report of all committee activities be made to the joint council of various branches.

Push Union Drive on Ford.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 19.—(AP)—Despite curtailment in employment in the automobile industry, which union leaders admit has made inroads on the income of the United Automobile Workers of America, all resources of the union are being concentrated in a half million dollar war chest for organization of the Ford Motor company, sources close to the union high command disclosed today.

Richard T. Frankensteen, U. A. W. A. vice president, said that to date $50,000 has been collected by a $1 assessment on all union members who work five or more days a month. Although current unemployment has affected 45 per cent of the U. A. W. A. membership in Detroit, he said, much more is expected from this source at the end of the month.

Union members here see organization of the Ford plant as a necessity before wage increases can be won from other plants that signed with the U. A. W. A. last winter.

MINE CIVIL WAR COST PLACED AT MANY MILLIONS

State Coal Fields Scene of 3 Years' Strife.

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 19.—[Special.]—The conviction of thirty-six men in the federal court here yesterday was an aftermath of a civil war between private armies in the arena of the central and southern Illinois coal fields from 1932 to 1935. The United Mine Workers of America and their rebellious offshoot, the Progressive Miners of America, engaged in a bloody strife—murders, bombings, and riots—that cost the state, business interests, and the miners themselves many millions of dollars.

There were thousands of men in the armies of the rival unions. Their battles, sometimes pitched engagements, sometimes roving guerilla warfare, clutched nearly a fourth of the state in a reign of terror. There were mercenaries in the conflict, too, men who would work for either side for pay, or who hoped to find their loot in the torn battlefields on private property.

Troops Called Out.

There were other elements, too. The Illinois National Guard had to be called out to quell uprisings and prevent further destruction of property. The railroads and mine owners had to hire hundreds of special guards at $10 a day.

As in all cases of a civil conflict, there were reverberations beyond the boundaries of the territory immediately affected. Shipments of coal to other states and to Canada were destroyed or delayed by the bombings. And it was in this way that the combatants of the rival unions ran afoul of the machinery of the federal government.

The thirty-six men convicted yesterday were members of the Progressive miners or sympathizers of that union. The technical charges on which they were tried were conspiracies to obstruct interstate and foreign coal shipments and to obstruct the mails.

Face Sentences Wednesday.

The men convicted will be sentenced Wednesday. Each one faces a maximum term of four years in a federal penitentiary and a $20,000 fine.

There had been discord in the U. M. W. A. for several days before the definite break in 1932. Many of the miners resented the dictatorial control which John L. Lewis exercised over the union as its international president. Lewis, now the czar of the Committee for Industrial Organization, has used the U. M. W. A. as the nucleus of the C. I. O. in his split with the American Federation of Labor.

Organization Moves Recalled.

The trouble in the U. M. W. A. before 1932 resulted in abortive attempts to organize the miners separately from other mine employés. This failed because, it was said, a powerful communistic element not representative of the rank and file of the miners, demanded a vertical form of unionism which would include all classes of mine workers in one organization.

In 1932 the U. M. W. A. members voted on a proposal of the coal operators to reduce the miners' basic pay from $6.10 to $5 a day. The proposal was defeated in the referendum and another election was held. Lewis and his assistants said several of the ballot boxes had been stolen and no results could be announced. On Aug. 10, 1932, Lewis, as head of the U.M.W.A., signed the $5 a day wage agreement with the operators.

Many of the miners were dissatisfied, asserting that a count of the ballots would have shown another repudiation of the wage cut plan. This opposition group declared that Lewis sold them out through his procedure of negotiating separate wage agreements for miners of various states, and allowing miners of one state to work in other states where the miners were striking. It was charged that Lewis imported 10,000 miners into Illinois at this time.

After Lewis authorized the $5 wage agreement, the mines in Franklin county were among the first to resume work. Then the battle lines were drawn for the long warfare.

Fifteen thousand miners from Taylorville, in Christian county, marched into Franklin county. They were met at Mulkeytown by Sherif Browning Robinson of Franklin county with a large force of deputies. He forced the 15,000 miners to retreat.

New Union Organized.

This fracas occurred Aug. 24, 1932, and eight days later, on Sept. 2, at Gillespie, the anti-Lewis group formed the Progressive union and definitly split with the U. M. W. A.

The rival unions began negotiating their own wage contracts. Most of the large mine owners, such as the Peabody Coal company, continued to employ U. M. W. A. men, while smaller operators signed agreements with the P. M. A. The civil war grew. Most of southern and central Illinois became a vast armed camp.

The first explosions occurred in Taylorville late in 1932. A building frequented by U. M. W. A. men was demolished and another blast was directed against the plant of the Daily Breeze, a newspaper which advocated the $5 wage scale.

300 Armed Miners Clash.

A trestle of the Chicago and Illinois Midland railroad, three miles west of Sicily in Christian county, was wrecked by two dynamite charges on Dec. 17, 1932. A month later three hundred armed miners of the two unions clashed near there. Two hundred of them were arrested. There were frequent sieges of mines, as one union or the other menaced its opponents at these mines.

On April 8, 1933, Laverne Miller, 14 years old, a school girl, was shot to death in her home in Duquoin during a flareup of the rival unions there. Four Duquoin youths were given life sentences in prison and a fifth was sentenced to 40 years for the murder.

On the night of Oct. 4, 1933 there was a riot at the Peabody company's mine at Harrisburg and a mine bridge was bombed. Just what occurred on this occasion has never been explained. There was a crew of U. M. W. A. men at work underground and the Progressives were reported to have formed a picket line outside to imprison their opponents.

Trial Reveals Evidence.

According to the prosecution at the conspiracy trial several of the defendants rallied other P. M. A. men in Harrisburg that night, and declared: "Don't let the law stop us. Arm yourself and we'll go up and attend to those miners and the Peabody company."

Progressive members converged on the mine, fired at the guards and U. M. W. A. men and blew up the bridge the government charged.

The defendants denied they sent an armed force against the mine. They asserted that the Peabody company instructed its guards to fire shots in the air to simulate a riot and create sympathy for the company and the U. M. W. A. The defense also declared that the Peabody company kept dynamite and other explosives at the mine. The Illinois National Guard arrived the next day and halted the rioting.

Home Bombed 4 Times.

John Stanley, one of the 36 men convicted, said that his Taylorville home and garage were bombed four times during this period. The fourth explosion demolished the house and one of Stanley's friends, Charles Deavers, lost a leg in the blast.

Early in 1934 a guard in a mine near Springfield was assaulted by four masked men who placed six loads of dynamite in the fan house, which feeds air to the men underground. More than three hundred and fifty U. M. W. A. men working below were endangered by the resulting explosion in the fan house.

On Aug. 22, 1934 a train was blown up near Springfield. Twenty coal cars were destroyed. A similar explosion occurred near Mount Pulaski on Oct. 2 1934. On Dec. 1 of that year a railroad speeder was stolen at Eldorado. It was loaded with dynamite and directed toward a mine, but blew up before it reached its destination.

Freight Train Bombed.

An Illinois Central freight train was blasted south of Springfield on the night of Dec. 22, 1934. Automobile tire tracks were found in the snow nearby and the prosecution at the conspiracy trial asserted these tracks corresponded to tires on a car owned by several of the defendants.

The civil warfare raged through the first part of 1935 and the rival unions subsided only when federal investigators took a hand in August of that year. Since then there have been no bombings.

Twenty-one Progressives were killed during the insurrection, and Joseph Ozanic, now president of the P. M. A., recently stated flatly that their deaths were the result of their opposition to Lewis' policies. One slaying occurred only three months before the trial began when Glenn Stufflebeam, a Progressive, was fatally wounded by a shotgun blast from an automobile in Springfield.

Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

GRACIOUS GIRL

By CALEB

FIFTEEN years ago on a breathless rainy day in the spring, the Metropolitan Opera House in New York was packed unbearably. Heat like a soggy blanket hung over the sweltering people who crowded even the standing room.

The audience was restless until a certain artist appeared on the stage. She was blonde and beautiful, with a graceful, youthful figure. She sang, and she was magnetic.

From then on, through the entire performance, a refreshing exuberance made the heat forgotten. Electricity flowed through the crowd. Flutters and bursts of applause greeted every movement of the star. And when the curtain dropped on the last scene, the crowd released a pent-up storm of enthusiasm which had been banking, despite applause, through a three-hour performance, and the vast auditorium shook and trembled.

The blonde star appeared again. Not content with bowing her thanks, she curtsied low to the floor once, twice, the third time, then again. Then—beyond belief—a curtain talk, an informal, friendly, fellow-like curtain talk—one slight woman talking to a hydra-headed monster of a crowd. When she stopped speaking and again curtsied low to the floor, all bedlam broke loose. Five minutes after she left the stage the crowd still shouted and stamped and applauded.

This was Jeritza, the season's super-popular star—and she was leaving for Europe the next forenoon.

She was not, the critics said, an artist of unparalleled ability, nor the best artist singing in New York. But she was loved! And she was loved because she was gracious.

Never did Jeritza condescend to face an audience. She made her admirers feel she was accorded a privilege in singing for them.

Yesterday afternoon I was reminded of that amazing performance. Yesterday I saw a wisp of a girl standing in one of our sections before two women who were extremely displeased over a purchase they were returning.

Here was a girl who had learned something the great Jeritza knew—graciousness.

Marshall Field & Company had somehow disappointed those women. And the salesgirl seemed to feel it a privilege to have opportunity to meet the difficulty. She had come to love the opportunity to render service when it is most difficult to render.

So I stood and watched a miracle anyone can work.

I saw gentleness, graciousness, and courtesy vanquish bristling indignation. I looked up the girl's record. Graciousness pays Jeritza I knew. And it pays a salesgirl, too!

ENGINEER'S TIP: TOUR MISSISSIPPI VIA LOUISIANA

Advises Crossing River to Avoid Detours.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Jackson, Miss., Dec. 19.—[Special.]—There isn't any all-paved route north and south through Mississippi, and the odds are that there won't be any during this winter season of tourist travel between Chicago and New Orleans and other gulf coast resorts. This fact was ascertained by THE TRIBUNE automobile in towing a trailer south while Gov. Hugh White of Mississippi was visiting Chicago with a motor caravan from the gulf to advertise the state's new roads.

On U. S. 51 south of Memphis, Tenn., the survey car traveled a detour of 51.7 miles through Pope, Miss., to Granada, Miss., over a lightly graveled clay road with sharp turns and ancient bridges of one car width. This is the route that Mississippi has been advertising to be completely paved after Jan. 1.

Engineer Outline Problems.

At the capital here, R. A. Harris, chief engineer of the highway department, answered inquiries with frankness.

"We have 2,300 feet of concrete to pour and 4.1 miles of asphalt to lay to finish the job," said the engineer. "The concrete can be poured in two days of good weather, which is scarce at this time of year, and the slab will cure in seven to ten days.

"The asphalt requires better weather than we usually get at this time of year and I'm informed unofficially that the contractor is going to wait until spring before putting the top on this remaining four miles."

Warns of Bad Detour.

In another example of frankness, Mr. Harris advised against driving the 91 miles of U. S. 61 in Mississippi between Vicksburg and Natchez, two of the state's leading tourist attractions. He said there is a bad detour of 18 miles on the route. Between these historic river cities, he recommended crossing the river at Vicksburg by bridge and at Natchez by ferry to drive 108 miles of Louisiana pavement on U. S. 65.

However, Mississippi really is pulling itself out of the mud. With a total population of 2 million persons and a quarter million automobiles, Mississippi is completing a 42½ million dollar construction program in two years.

THEATER OWNERS OFFER TO PAY MORE CITY FEES

Motion picture theater owners indicated last night they will agree to an average increase of 50 per cent in license fees to aid the city make up a $2,700,000 deficit in its 1938 budget. The increase, ranging from 25 per cent for smaller houses to 75 per cent for larger theaters, would yield an additional $60,000 to the present total of $120,000 collected annually.

Announcement of the theater group's proposal came late yesterday after a five hour conference at the Hotel Sherman between Aaron Saperstein, representing several hundred independent theater owners; John Balaban of the Balaban and Katz chain, and Morris Leonard of exhibitors' association, and Aldermen William A. Rowan [10th], and James J. Grealis [44th]. The theater owners' representatives will lay the offer before a city council committee today.

Fire Causes $10,000 Loss in Paper Box Factory

Damage of $10,000 was done early today by fire which swept through the third and fourth floors of the Re-Shipping Paper Box company at 220 West Huron street. Firemen, called by a 2-11 alarm, prevented the flames from spreading to other parts of the five story building. A large crowd watched the fire. The cause of the fire is unknown.

DIES OF BULLET WOUND.

Hillsdale, Mich., Dec. 19.—[Special.]—Abraham Cramer, 67 years old, of Prattville, near here, died today from a self inflicted bullet wound. Cramer had brooded over the death of his wife a year ago.

Mrs. Flora Murphy (left), sister of escaped convict who was found dead of bullet wound in apartment, and Mrs. Juanita Thomas, his wife. They were ordered held for questioning. According to the police Thomas is one of two hoodlums who engaged in gunfight with police near Damen and Milwaukee avenues.

REVOLT THREATS SOUND IN EGYPT POLITICAL STRIFE

CAIRO, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Shouts of "Nahas or revolution" sounded through the streets of Egypt's capital today after a conference failed to break the deadlock between young King Farouk and Premier Mustapha Nahas Pasha in their struggle for power. Yesterday the king threatened to oust the Nahas government.

The king's close political adviser, Ali Maher Pasha, and Nahas' representative, Minister of Finance Makram Ebeid Pasha, conferred for 90 minutes in an effort to end the constitutional impasse.

After the meeting, Ebeid appealed to a dense crowd of students outside his office not to make the situation worse by seditious cries. Farouk has insisted on dissolution of the blue-shirted youth organization of Nahas' Wafd [Nationalist] party, the right to name one-third of the senate, and control over appointment of all senior officials. The cabinet maintained Farouk's demands were unconstitutional.

SWITCHMAN IS KILLED.

Harry Binkly, 53 years old, 3310 West 59th street, a switchman for the Chicago and Alton railroad, was fatally injured early today when he fell from a moving switch engine in the company yards at 51st street and the city limits. His skull was fractured.

POLICE HUNT NEW SUSPECT IN GUN FIGHT FATAL TO 1

Parolee Is Eliminated as Second Desperado.

With half their score settled against two desperadoes who wounded two detectives Thursday night, police last night began a search for a new character in the case as the second of the two gunmen involved. The first, William S. Thomas, an escaped convict, was found dead of bullet wounds Saturday night.

William S. Thomas.

The new man being sought is Earl Hargrave, an ex-convict. Police said they believe he was with Thomas in the Thursday night battle at North and Damen avenues in which Detectives Fred Crowley and Thomas Griffin and two civilians were wounded. Thomas was also shot.

Seven hours later, on Friday morning, a man now thought to be Hargrave, fought police at 542 Cullerton street, and escaped. He was wounded in the hand.

First Suspect Eliminated.

Police, meanwhile, eliminated John Wolfe, a paroled convict, as a suspect in the shooting in view of the Hargrave development, but they are seeking him on other accounts.

Information involving Hargrave came, according to police, from Joseph Nevero, 28 years old, 1824 Canalport avenue, owner of the car used and abandoned by Thomas and his companion in the North avenue fight. In this car were license plates borrowed by Nevero from Ignatz Gallina, living at 542 Cullerton street.

Nevero told police that Hargrave borrowed his car Thursday evening and returned without it at 10 p. m. Hargrave, he said, told him he had a fight with police and had to abandon the car, then asked who owned the license plates. Nevero named Gallina as the owner.

Visit to Gallina Home.

Five hours later two men and a red haired woman stopped in a cab at Gallina's home, and it was then that the second gun battle occurred.

Police believe the gunmen meant to intimidate Gallina, whose only involvement is ownership of the license plates.

Police are searching for the second man and the red haired woman who went to the Gallina home. A blonde woman, friend of Hargrave, also is being sought. A third woman friend, Miss Mary Veres, 21 years old, a brunette, was arrested last night.

Thomas, wounded by Detective Crowley, died Saturday night at 6024 South Park avenue in the home of his sister, Mrs. Florence Brown. Crowley confirmed the identfication of Thomas as one of the gunmen. His wife, Juanita; Mrs. Brown, and another sister, Mrs. Flora Belle Murphy, have been questioned by detectives.

BARRYMORES STOP IN CHICAGO; REPORT EVERYTHING LOVELY

Mr. Barrymore, gay, jovial, with a resurgence of his Romeo stride, beamed on all. Mrs. Barrymore, wearing a ten foot scarf of cross-fox over her mink coat, beamed out over a shoulder of orchids. Her mother, Mrs. Edna Jacobs, swathed in silver fox, beamed.

They were, they remarked, on their way to New York for Christmas. Would John and Elaine be together? "I don't see why not," Mr. Barrymore replied in velvety tones. And the once discussed divorce? "That's all over," Mrs. Barrymore said airily, "quite some time ago." And the mother-in-law? "O, I love her," Mr. Barrymore intoned. "She's a great girl."

BURNS KILL MAN AFTER CAR AND TAXICAB CRASH

Raymond Boegen, 38 years old, of Bellemead, N. J., who was burned Saturday when his car collided with a taxicab in Irving Park boulevard at Leclaire avenue, died yesterday in the Belmont hospital. The fire started in gasoline which leaked from the tank. Boegen was en route to the home of his sister in Berwyn.

Norman Spencer, 18 years old, 2425 Walnut street, Blue Island, died yesterday at his home of injuries suffered when his car crashed into a safety island in Western avenue at 109th street on Oct. 2.

John Rofstad, 52 years old, 3933 North Mozart street, died last night in St. Elizabeth's hospital of injuries incurred Saturday when a truck he was driving collided with a California avenue car at Dickens avenue.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 1,039 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 792 were killed in Chicago, where 21,979 were injured in the same period.

Coal or Coke

What is Layer-Cake Heat?

Layer-Cake Heat consists of cold layers of air near the floor, hot layers near the ceiling. It is caused by stop-and-go fuels that allow the fire-box of your furnace or boiler to cool between firings, halting heat-flow, permitting the air to form "temperature layers." It robs you of comfort, causes colds. You can get rid of Layer-Cake Heat by using steady-burning coal or coke.

● The good old sun up in the sky is the best heating plant there is, producing a steady, even glow. And that's just what solid fuels do in your furnace or boiler. Because these fuels cost so little, you can afford to have plenty of heat at all times.

You avoid Layer-Cake Heat when you burn coal or coke. A bed of glowing coals in your furnace constantly keeps the firebox warm. This keeps heat flowing into your rooms steadily, preventing layers of air from forming, keeping your feet warm because floors are warm. In short, coal or coke gives you more comfort, yet costs less!

There are automatic regulators for hand-fired furnaces and boilers that turn the heat on for you in the morning before you get up, and keep your rooms at the temperature you choose, saving both fuel and effort. These can be applied to your present heating plant at small cost. Ask your coal merchant.

Thousands of coal users are putting in fully automatic heating with stokers. You build just one fire a winter. A stoker gives clean, steady heat at the temperature you choose—saves money on fuel. Your neighborhood coal merchant will be glad to tell you how a stoker can be installed in your present heating plant on easy terms.

Get rid of Layer-Cake Heat now! Phone your coal merchant and order coal or coke today. If you're not sure he's a member of the Chicago Coal Merchants Association, phone STAte 9723.

HEAT FOR HALF WITH COAL OR COKE

An Unusual Efficiency Performance

IN the single hour between 8 a. m. and 9 a. m. on December 10, a total of 71 trains composed of 412 cars were operated southbound from the North Side Division of the Elevated Railroad Lines through the Loop.

CAREFUL inquiry indicates that this is the greatest number of trains ever operated over a single track in an hour's time on any railroad in the United States. We know of no European record that equals it.

THE Rapid Transit Company takes pride in publicly complimenting its Operating Organization on its high efficiency which made possible this achievement.

* * * *

WE also wish to commend the organization for its exceptional work under the most trying conditions during the ice and sleet storm of last week. With hazardous street conditions which made use of automobiles extremely dangerous, Chicago, as is usual in inclement weather, relied on "L" service and 17 per cent more passengers were carried than on normal days.

A VICTORY AND A DEFEAT.

What happened last week in congress can be summarized in a sentence: The farmers succumbed but labor and industry escaped.

The senate passed a farm bill which was not identical with the bill previously passed by the house; but whatever the conference committee may do next month in the regular session to adjust the differences, it seems probable that the politicians will have a tighter hold than before on the farms and farmers of the country.

The effort to introduce a parallel control over labor under the pretense of regulating minimum wages and maximum hours in industry failed by a rather narrow margin in the house. That bill is dead at least for the present and with it a major part of the President's "must" legislation goes by the board.

The farmers succumbed for a variety of reasons. Chief among them was the fact that since 1933 the politicians have been training farmers to come to heel. The method is the familiar one of punishing disobedience and rewarding subservience with a sop. The farmers who retained their independence suffered for it. They were cut off from most of the easy money. The others who accepted domination from Washington got their crop loans, their soil conservation grants, etc., etc. Large numbers of farmers have become used to taking the money. They have not yet realized that the day must come when the politicians, having gained control of agriculture, will be less disposed than at present to grant subsidies in the form of one-way contracts which seem to give the farmers every advantage.

In addition, the politicians have worked ceaselessly to gain control of farmers' organizations and have succeeded over a wide area, with the result that farmers' representatives in congress have been intimidated into supporting measures which they knew in their hearts to be unsound and dangerous.

The effort of the politicians to advance toward the same kind of power over labor and industry was less successful. One wing of the labor movement saw through the design and resisted it. The administration and the C. I. O. worked together harmoniously, as was to be expected, but the C. I. O. was numerically the weaker of the two labor associations and morally weaker still because of its record of violence in word and action. Its support no doubt alienated more congressional votes than it won.

The American Federation of Labor opposed the creation of another board which, like the so-called National Labor Relations board, would play into the hands of the revolutionary element in the labor movement. The A. F. of L. from its experience knew what to expect of a law giving arbitrary power to the burocracy. When the sponsors of the legislation insisted upon retaining burocratic control with all its opportunities for favoritism and political blackmail the bill was doomed to defeat.

The farmers have fallen into the totalitarian trap, but labor and industry are still in the clear.

MR. HOOVER'S COUNSEL.

There is no one whose public utterances are more worthy of the thoughtful attention and consideration of the American people than those of Mr. Hoover. The address before the Economics club upon the broad lines of national policy alternative to the so-called planned economy of the present régime at Washington is only the latest example of Mr. Hoover's important contribution to American thought in these critical times. Mr. Hoover looks to the future without discarding the lessons of the past, and his discussion of public issues is founded on experience, intelligent reflection, and indubitable devotion to the welfare of the nation. He is performing a very useful public service but it would be of wider and deeper influence if it could be definitly and completely divorced from any inference of political ambition or self-interest. So long as he has not explicitly and unequivocally declared that he is not a candidate for the presidency his activities will be unavoidably discounted and his influence upon public thought and action will fall short of the weight it would otherwise have. The country is full of propagandists and would-be advisers. It will listen eagerly to counsel raised above suspicions of ambition and self-interest.

COAL, STRANGELY ENOUGH, IS TO BURN.

The coal industry, being sick for a number of years, has received two varieties of attention, one coming from politics and the other from private initiative. Politics took the invalid to Washington. Private enterprise went to work without the help of the Congressional Record.

Politics undertook the cure by control of production, by the imposition of taxes, the manipulation of freight rates, regulation of wages and hours, and maneuvers to increase prices and decrease use.

Private enterprise worked upon the idea that if consumers didn't use coal there was no excuse for the industry. Unless there was a market for it as a fuel there was no reason for its production. Private enterprise reasoned that people did not burn laws, regulations, price agreements, wage and hour scales or discriminatory freight rates as fuel. They might like to burn them, but not for heat or power.

Coal has competition. There is gas and oil. If coal lost to its competitors, no laws could save the mines. The business of selling coal to the users of fuel was done for.

The disadvantages of coal lay in the handling, the firing, the waste, smoke, ash removal and other requirements which inclined many consumers to turn to other fuels cleaner, less troublesome and needing less labor. While politics was working with legislation in which the consumer of fuel was not interested or benefited, private enterprise produced the automatic stoker which put coal back in the running even in domestic use against its competition. The stoker could be used conveniently and economically. The consumer was given a chance to buy the product of the mines without feeling that he was dealing with an outmoded and antiquated heating system.

If the coal industry is to be saved, it won't be by the politicians who make laws, but by the inventive genius of private enterprise which will enable coal to hold its own in competition with other fuels. Private enterprise will provide a reason for buying coal.

ABOUT MAPS AND A MAP.

A contributor to the Voice of the People a few days ago complained about what he called "absolute misrepresentation of the truth" in a map appearing on the cover of a recent issue of the Graphic Section. The chart was used to illustrate an article by Mr. John Menaugh entitled, "The Bloody Business of Empire Building."

We think the criticism was without warant. We like maps and in all probability we publish more of them than will be found in any other newspaper. We take great pains to make our maps accurate and serviceable. When a chart appears in THE TRIBUNE it is expected to show every place mentioned in the accompanying article and the spelling of the place names [even Chinese place names] is expected to correspond with the spelling in the text. By the discriminating use of arrows, colors, shading, and other devices we try to make the maps talk. If they don't somebody hears about it.

One great and inherent difficulty in map presentation arises from the fact that if too much detail and too many subtleties are included the reader is confused rather than helped. In general we aim to include as much detail as we think the chart will stand, and explain in the text anything else that needs to be explained. No other practical solution of the difficulty is available.

Evidently the reader who complained about inaccuracies in the map of empires did not trouble to read the text. If he had done so he would have found his answers. Thus, he wrote:

"When did Portugal and her African colonies become incorporated in the so-called British empire?"

This is what the article said in anticipation of just such a complaint: "In the map . . . Portugal and its possessions are shown in the same color as the territories of the British empire. That is because Portugal, under a treaty with Great Britain, is to all purposes concerned with national defense a dependency of the British. Its rather insignificant fleet is looked to by the Britons to help defend possessions in the far east. . . ." Mention was made also of recent negotiations which are believed to have placed Portuguese military, air, and naval bases at the disposal of Great Britain.

As a matter of fact, the present British attitude toward Portugal can be traced as far back as 1147, when a band of British Crusaders rendered important aid to Alphonso I. in capturing Lisbon. The treaty of Windsor with Portugal dates from 1386. Repeatedly in the intervening centuries British ships and British soldiers have been sent to Portugal to preserve her territorial integrity against Spain and other powers. Sir George Rooke and 10,000 men fought for Portugal in 1704; Gentleman Johnny Burgoyne was there with an army in 1762; Sir Charles Stuart with 6,000 men in 1797. Since the nineteenth century it has been universally recognized that Britain has undertaken the defense of Portugal and all her possessions.

Again our critic asks, "When did practically all of the independent units of Arabia become incorporated in the British empire?" The text of the article said: "Virtually all of Arabia, although divided among small nations, is more or less under domination of the British." It would have been confusing to express that thought graphically. The map was substantially correct and the text provided the finer shading.

Our reader complains that Iraq and Egypt should not have been included in the British empire. The text of the article says: "The Iraq mandate has been renounced, but the British still keep troops in the land. . . . Egypt, recognized as an independent kingdom, actually gets its orders from the British high commissioner. Britain reserves the right to move its troops over Egypt, keeps several thousand of them there, and maintains military, naval, and air bases in the land."

We submit that the map was all right and the correspondent was all wrong. If he had read the article with reasonable care he would have found the answer to all his objections.

Editorial of the Day

IF WAR SHOULD COME AGAIN—

[Egyptian Legionnaire, Herrin, Ill.]

Buck-toothed females of uncertain age will flutter from their inhibitive shells and screech "yellow!"—usually at some wooden legged guy who is minding his own business.

Weak-livered boys will study up on the use of digitalis as an aid to slackerism, via the weak heart route—and forever after be burned up because they didn't go.

Smart politicians will connive their sons into bomb-proof jobs at Washington—and for the next twenty years remind a bored world that they "gave their sons" to front line service.

Paunchy preachers will exhort the troops [from the safety of their pulpit] to kill—and be killed—in the name of liberty. The more cocksure prelates will again solemnly assure the soldiery that to die in battle means a through ticket to heaven.

Ol' sojers will try again to wangle their way into the ruckus, and, failing to bamboozle the recruiting officer, will join the other graybeards safely on the curbstone and from there wave God speed to

The youngsters who, since time began, have marched away to do the dirty work—

While miserable mothers will sit dazedly waiting and praying for that boy who may not come back.

They're doing it today in Italy—in Japan—in Spain—in China.

Let's be damned sure we don't do it in America.

—W. E. R.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U.S. Pat. Office

IF YOU'RE NOT WRITING A NOVEL, or poems, or doing an article for a magazine, you're just not in fashion. We found that out for you from the salesmen in the news stands and bookstores. Unless they misinterpret their statistics, one of every seven persons who come in is a budding author. Writers' magazines and lists of literary markets are selling like hot cakes; there's a boom in the business. Many who don't buy the magazines come in to glance through the pages and glean some helpful information before wandering on. The writers' magazine fans used to be shy young men and dreamy eyed girl poets. Most of them now are middle aged. Many are quite elderly. When asked they usually term themselves professional writers (few call themselves authors) and say they're selling regularly to the pulp publications. Those who confide that they're poets are usually quite frank about the market's being bad. Although the salesmen can't press the matter too closely with cash customers, they have a theory that most of the customers get the magazines to learn about the writers' contests that some publications offer to stimulate business.

SONG OF SUBURBS.

Sing HO to the couples,
The dear household couples,
Who work in the suburbs for pay.
If wifey is lazy
The hubby's a daisy,
Or turn about the other way.

Each Monday they enter
From some servant center,
On Tuesday you find he's a crook.
On Wednesday they're leaving
And you are not grieving,
But, my dear, how that woman could cook!

Has some one a room
Or a shack, sans a broom, or
A dugout the size of a gnat?
Just drop me a line
I've a house simply fine
I'll exchange at the drop of a hat.

Buddy Bligh.

STRANGE GAME.

The day it rained and froze, writes Hilary Haw, a woman in Oak Park noticed a small boy carefully picking the ice caps off the points of an iron picket fence. He seemed to be enjoying it so much she hurried across the street and began picking them off at the other end. There seemed quite a lot of satisfaction in it, although neither of them knew any practical use for the ice caps. When she saw that she was being watched she squashed her ice caps and hurried on. The boy took his to the house.

MOST CHICAGOANS wouldn't know what to do with the foods so gayly displayed in the foreign food shops near Hull House, but they're worth seeing: Huge dried fish, stuffed carelessly into casks; larger ones still, hanging in the entries; cheeses, small and large, of a bewildering variety of shapes, and dried vegetables and greens seen nowhere else. In the Italian shops are long, black Italian cigars. The Mexican and Spanish shops have foods, hot with spices, but the shopkeepers are more interested at the moment in selling you literature in foreign languages. Ben Hur seems a universal favorite.

RAISING LOW BLOOD PRESSURE.

WE hear so much about high blood pressure that we may forget that the opposite condition is equally annoying. In fact, the chap whose level is raised usually is on the top of the wave—active, industrious, and alert, at least for a time. The duration of the period may continue for many years, but the danger lies in injury which may occur meanwhile to tiny vessels and capillaries or because of the hardening of larger arteries. Thus the kidneys may be damaged and the circulation actually be shut off from certain vital structures.

Instances of low blood pressure are not common, yet they present themselves frequently enough and many victims are grossly misunderstood. Physicians, as a rule, pay so little attention to this phase of health that sufferers are likely to fall into the neglected, forgotten class or be regarded as chronic complainers or neurotics.

The symptom offers a real challenge because there is a happy medium [of pressure] at which the circulating fluid flows with ease and safety and without weaking the vessels. Furthermore, if normal, this material reaches the remotest cells, supplying them with nourishment. If the force within the arteries, however, is inadequate, that is, much below 110 millimeters of mercury, there may be listlessness, lack of ambition, fatigue, and scores of miscellaneous manifestations—all ascribable to starved cells due to a defective blood supply.

Of course, signs vary with individuals, but by and large the chief difficulty is utter exhaustion. The man or woman is unable to drive himself to carry out the simplest tasks. Then come in succession fears, sleeplessness, inability to concentrate thoughts, nervousness, and pains anywhere in the body.

Naturally, there is a cause, but it is rarely heart disease. For example, there may be too little sugar in the plasma. Again, because of inability or unwillingness to exercise, insufficient oxygen may be absorbed. After a while a sort of vicious circle is set up which develops into a "whipped" personality. Breathing is shallow, the shoulders droop, the muscles are flabby, the chest is narrow, and the whole picture is one of despair and futility.

It is well known that invalidism can be accentuated by over-solicitude, and I know of several low pressure persons who have had trouble snapping out of the dilemma because they were afraid to adopt the proper régime, namely, pushing nourishment and engaging in exercise even at the risk of collapse. In the first place the patient should be told that he must walk and work and that there is no chance of his "dropping dead." He can be compelled to go out of doors, at first for short strolls; later for tramps and hikes. Stimulating drugs are useless. The essential demands are for new cells, perhaps an increase in hemoglobin—all designed to restore tone to muscles and nerves.

Gland preparations may be helpful at the beginning of treatment, but they should be discontinued as soon as response becomes obvious. Massage may be prescribed, to be followed by arm, leg, and trunk exercises within the home. The hot pack is beneficial, as it brings blood to the skin and proves soothing to the nervous system.

The low pressure patient holds his fate in his own hands. He can win if he has the will and courage to do. Gentle suggestions observed consistently will lead to greater effort.

Because the car hasn't been out of the garage for months is no sure sign that it will not run. The tires may need more air and a rundown battery may need to be renewed. But once going and on the road the old bus will perform wonders.

IT'S A SKIN DISEASE.

M. M. writes:

1. What is pemphigus?
2. Can a person die from it?
3. What treatment can be used?
4. Has it any relation to psoriasis?

REPLY.

1. Pemphigus is an inflammatory disease of the skin, characterized by the development of a succession of rounded blisters.
2. Some cases pursue a long, chronic course, ultimately ending in death from some other disease which appears because of the weakened condition of the patient.
3. The general health should be restored and maintained by rest, nutritious food, and the administration of tonics. Locally, the blebs should be punctured and dusting powders applied. Stress is laid on good nursing, the use of the quartz lamp, colonic irrigations, and high vitamin diets, aided by massive doses of viosterol.
4. No.

USE OF GLASSES.

G. E. D. writes: Would considerable reading without glasses further damage the eyes of a nearsighted person? Would going without glasses when not reading be detrimental to such a person?

REPLY.

There are several forms of myopia, but in general the constant wearing of corrective lenses is considered beneficial up to age 45. After that lenses for both near and far vision are difficult to prescribe and such adults usually wear glasses only for reading.

ESTATE PROBATE.

Chicago, Dec. 18.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—An estate consisting of a two flat brick building and vacant property is left to seven heirs, brothers and sisters, who can't agree. Three years have passed and the estate has not been probated.

1. What steps are necessary to have the estate probated?
2. What is the usual expense connected to this procedure on an estate valued at approximately $5,000?
3. Will any one of the seven heirs need to pay out any cash, or is the expense taken out of the estate? The income is just enough to cover mortgage interest and taxes. J. J. B.

1. Ordinarily it is advisable to employ an attorney and leave subsequent steps to him.
2. The Illinois statute fixes executor's fee at not over 6 per cent of the personal property. In our opinion the attorney's fee ought to come out of this.
3. Expenses are taken out of the estate.

OBSTACLES TO BUILDING.

Chicago, Dec. 15.—There are three causes of the present shortage of housing which has elicited the President's message. The first is our absurd system of local taxation in our cities and towns, under which vacant building lots are lightly taxed, while new dwelling buildings are highly taxed. This encourages speculators to hold their properties out of use in the hope of getting higher prices for them.

The second cause is our high tariff taxes [in many cases practically prohibitive] on all building materials such as steel, bricks, lime, cement, plumbing supplies, window glass, hardware, etc. These taxes enable the manufacturers to add from 30 to 50 per cent to the cost of materials.

The third cause is the abnormally high wages in the unionized building trades: bricklayers, carpenters, painters, plasterers, etc., forced by the combination of labor unions in a great many cities.

These are the conditions that have brought about the widespread shortage in decent housing at reasonable rentals. The situation calls for a remedy, but this remedy is not to be found in federal subsidies paid by the taxpayers.

THE WAR REFERENDUM.

Chicago, Dec. 15.—What is the matter with the proposed Ludlow war referendum amendment to the constitution?

Does the judiciary committee think the American people, who, after all, are the flesh and blood bulwark of this country, not sufficiently intelligent to comprehend when and whether this country must justly go to war?

Perhaps if the more or less secret demands, rejections, counter proposals made by the state department [and also their agreements with foreign powers] were honestly relayed to the public, we would not be crying for a last chance to have a say as to the disposition of our sons' bodies and of America's future safety and happiness. EDWARD E. SHOREY.

HANDBOOKS.

Chicago, Dec. 13.—Gov. Horner is quoted as saying that "the astounding proposal that Chicago license handbooks is plainly in violation of the law."

Well, the state made an unlawful business lawful when it licensed race tracks and is sharing in the proceeds.

The governor appears not to know that handbooks are not going to be licensed, but that brokers are, and the city has the right to do this legally without the consent of the governor. Home rule.

JOHN J. MARSHALL.

FEEBLEST ANALOGY OF 1937.

Chicago, Dec. 14.—A more sensible and well reasoned editorial than the one entitled "Unfair to Football Coaches" appearing in today's TRIBUNE could not be found anywhere in the land.

But why can THE TRIBUNE be so logical and sane in discussing the problems of football coaches—the problems arising out of the impossibility of every coach turning out a winning team—and at the same time always whoop it up for the capitalist system which involves identically the same problems for the whole body of American people?

This is a perfect summary of the coach's situation which I quote from your editorial: "His only salvation is success and nobody has ever figured out how every team in the country can win all or nearly all of its games."

That goes not only for football coaches but for every man and woman in the United States who has to work or set himself up in some little business to earn a living. To paraphrase the sentence I have quoted from your editorial: "His [or her] only salvation is success and nobody has ever figured out how every man and woman can win all or nearly all the time."

I therefore give the prize for the most perfect summation in 1937 of the Marxian philosophy to THE TRIBUNE which at other times, in season and out of season, whips up a fury to disprove that philosophy. A little off guard, eh TRIBUNE, when you didn't happen to couple your vested interests with the problems of the American football coach? IRA BENSON.

NEWS ABOUT IRELAND.

Chicago, Dec. 17.—You'd be surprised what a start your David Darrah gave Jim Frawley yesterday with his talk of dictatorship over home. But Jim came back in the evenin' burstin' with knowledge and documents.

Well—says Jim—I find Mr. Darrah made a bad case. For instance, now he omitted to mention that article No. 40 of the new constitution considers "Criticism of government policy" to be a rightful expression of the press. Now, there's a bad start for dictatorship.

And now—he continued—take the Sinclair-Gogarty case he mentions. First of all it had nothing at all to do with the government. Sinclair sued Gogarty for libel and got the verdict from the jury. And mind you, in passing, I'd like to mention Mr. Sinclair is a Jew, so there can't be much to that anti-Jewish talk of Mr. Darrah.

In fact I find there's very little to any of Mr. Darrah's talk. A man who'd say there was Protestant persecution in Ireland from 1911 to 1926—or at any time, for that matter—has no right to be going to press.

Well, says Jim, finishing, I'm satisfied in my own mind but it grieves me to think others might take those articles for accurate. I suppose there's not much we can do—says Jim on his way out.

It occurred to me you might like to hear Jim's reasoning. TOM HOGAN.

THE STAKE OF WAR.

Henderson, Ky., Dec. 15.—The American people had better realize that a war now would be more than a war; it would very likely mean the end of democracy in the United States. Freedom of the press and speech would be suspended and every one who criticized this administration would be punished as a traitor. Industry would be taken over and a totalitarian state would be established. Once this would happen we would never get back our American institutions.

Glove Seller—Epitaph—Delicacy.

IN the morning mail from Charles E. Singletary, re the perplexing epitaph. "I find after wrestling with your epitaph problem some sixteen or eighteen hours that the solution is simplicity itself. . . . To find the answer it was only necessary to use up a dozen scratch pads, all my spare lead pencils, a book of genealogical charts, and to check up on some old algebraic formulas. In addition I laid prone, supine, and askew. I beetled my brow and stood on my head. I even tried mirrors. Finally the solution dawns, simple and clear. . . . "

We print, however, not Mr. Singletary's solution, but that of R. G. O'Connor of Whitewater, Wis., one of the first to reach us, and the most simply told. The epitaph was, you will remember, "Here lie — two grandmothers with their two granddaughters, two husbands with their two wives, two fathers with their two daughters, two mothers with their two sons, two maidens with their two mothers, two sisters with their two brothers, yet but six corpses in all lie buried here, all born legitimate, from incest clear."

The solution: "Grandmothers A and B are widows with one son each, whom we shall call C and D. Son C married Grandma B, while son D falls for Grandma A. Each of these couples have a daughter, which completes the six required persons, who eventually are buried in the lot. The main question is the one of the two brothers and two sisters, but that is explained by the definition of sister, as Daughter E is a sister of Son D, since they have the same mother, and Daughter F is a sister of Son C for the same reason."

* *

ANOTHER solver of the epitaph puzzle made such a neat graph we wanted you to see that, too.

A YOUNG matron was a little upset the other evening when she went to a dinner party with a white chrysanthemum pinned to the bodice of her gown and found C. T. Loo, the Chinese art collector, some of whose treasures have been on exhibit at the Arts club the last two weeks, one of the guests. She was afraid the chrysanthemum, Japanese in its suggestion, might seem a deliberate affront. Mr. Loo didn't seem to mind.

ESTATE LEVIES DRY UP FEDERAL REVENUE POOLS

Expert Warns on Trend of Stiff Taxes.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 19.—[Special.]—Struggling with the problem of finding revenue to finance the mounting costs of government, congressional experts are confronted with a gradual drying up of larger estates as sources of taxes, it was learned today.

Stiff levies on estates not only are breaking them up, but analysis of collections also shows a trend toward the decrease of revenue from individual income taxes as a result of the estate tax. In other words, when the government takes the bulk of a decedent's estate the income of the heirs—from which another tax could be extracted—is proportionately reduced.

Maximum Is 70 Per Cent.

The maximum tax on estates in the United States is 70 per cent, which was the rate set when the administration put over its soak the rich tax program in 1935. This rate contrasts with the British maximum of 50 per cent.

L. H. Parker, chief of staf of the joint committee on internal revenue taxation of congress, pointed out some of the trends in a recent speech before the national tax association at Baltimore.

Studies of the effect of the English estate tax demonstrate more conclusively its impact upon the accumulation of wealth than the levy in this country, because the British estate taxes [or death duties] have been imposed for more than a century, while this type of tax dates only to 1916 in the United States.

British Tax Studied.

According to Parker wealth is handed down from one person to another every thirty-five years. He and his committee experts made an exhaustive survey of the performance of the British tax during the last thirty-five years.

Parker told the tax association that the proportion of larger estates to the total number of estates had been dwindling in England for the last three and a half decades. He felt certain, he said, that the trend in the United States would be the same under the present estate tax system.

Table Shows Decrease.

The following table shows the decrease of the percentage of English estates of $1,000,000 or more:

1899-1903	22.09
1904-'08	21.59
1909-'13	22.12
1914-'18	21.25
1919-'23	20.60
1924-'28	19.70
1929-'33	18.39

The following table shows British estates of $500,000 to $1,000,000 in proportion to the national wealth:

Period—	Pct.
1899-1903	10.91
1904-'08	10.67
1909-'13	9.73
1914-'18	9.29
1919-'23	8.97
1924-'28	9.30
1929-'33	8.54

The estate tax of the United States, as enacted in 1916, provided an exemption for estates of $100,000. Under the present administration the exemption has been shaved to $40,000.

Signposts Point U. S. Trend.

The trend in the United States is not as discernible as in England, but the signposts show the direction.

For one thing, 738 fewer estate tax returns were filed during the last year than in 1926, although the exemption had been lowered to catch a greater number. At the same time the number of persons who enjoy incomes of more than one million dollars a year has been on the decrease. There were 504 such million dollar incomes in 1929, while in 1935 there were only 41, according to data made public by Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr.

It will depart at 8:30 a. m. On board are a number of socially prominent easterners on their way to winter sports at the Idaho resort. They will be joined at the North Western station here by several Chicagoans.

BILL ON HOUSING PUSHED TOWARD VOTE IN SENATE

Leaders Predict Passage by Wide Margin.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 19.—(AP)—A senate subcommittee voted unanimously today to report the administration's new housing bill to the full committee tomorrow.

Chairman Robert J. Bulkley [D., O.] said the senate draft was substantially the same as the bill which the house adopted last night, 325 to 23.

Lure for Private Capital.

The legislation proposes to carry out President Roosevelt's recent request for liberalization of the national housing act, a move which he estimated would encourage investment of much private capital in construction work over a five year period.

Administration leaders said the program would lead to the construction and sale of millions of new homes, most of them to cost about $6,000.

Easy Victory Forecast.

Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, a member of the subcommittee, said he believed the senate measure would pass by the same wide margin rolled up for the house bill.

The full committee expected to rush it to the senate floor with a view to enactment before adjournment of the special session of congress, set for Dec. 22. Should it fail to pass by Wednesday, Barkley asserted, a Thursday session probably would be ordered.

"I managed to close that deal with Brown at dinner Friday night. Then I caught a Silverliner for Miami... Great trip, that. Easy. Comfortable. Marvelous flight-steward service... You fly over a thousand miles, and it seems like commuting."

"You've heard about Eastern Air Lines' Flying Fisherman's Club? Well, I joined that Saturday morning, by landing a beauty two miles off the Miami shore. The point is—maybe Eastern Air Lines didn't catch that fish for me, but they certainly did everything else but!"

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

An Icy Fairyland

December 19, 1937.

TIMBERED areas have been transformed into crystal woods on the Wheaton farm. Every tree will be decorated for Christmas unless the sun dismantles the ice-tinseled branches and twigs. Frozen raindrops have become packed more than a half inch thick on every limb.

To see the woods in their winter trimmings is worth skating on four automobile wheels over the slick road thirty miles west of the loop. For safety, scouting is limited to the fringe of the woods. To go under the trees would be dangerous, for there is a constant crashing of the sylvan chandeliers.

In Various Moods.

Outdoormen have found the Wheaton farm woods in various moods during the last ten days. Fog hung like a thick veil over the timber last Friday. It was so dense that the outline of the trees could not be seen more than 200 yards away. Sprawling branches of the elms spread out in the mistlike plumes of smoke from a locomotive.

Stretches of ice covered woven wire fences are draped as delicate lace curtains between the posts. In sunlight the weeds, bent and broken, appear as pipettes and retorts used by the chemist. All the colors of the spectrum are picked up from the sunlight by ice coated straws in the stubble fields, giving the impression of colorful tubes of electric signs broken and scattered over the ground where small grains were grown last summer.

Low shrubs and bushes are so heavily covered with ice they resemble giant tumble weeds blown across the field, coming to rest in fence corners.

Fanciful Pictures.

All sorts of fanciful pictures are made by the combination of ice crystals and mist. Bronze berry clusters of sumac bushes loom up at the edge of thickets and along the fences like covies of distracted quail, drenched in a heavy rain with their heads erect waiting for signals from the mother birds to fly, run, or squat.

Natural feed for the quail, pheasants, and other birds at the farm is all covered with a solid sheet of ice in the woods and open pastures and fields. The ice is hard enough to hold up a horse in many spots.

Many of the trees are so heavily loaded with ice the branches are breaking, bringing down with them tons of spangling crystals. The farm's lumberjacks were forced to shoulder their axes and saws and leave the woods last week. Chopping and sawing the trunks brought showers of ice chunks out of the tree tops, making it unsafe for the men to continue their work.

Mary E. Biddle Weds Today in New York City

BY JUDITH CASS.

Of interest this morning is the announcement Mrs. James W. Prindiville is making of the marriage of her daughter, Mary Ellen Prindiville Biddle, to George Frederick Johnston, this afternoon in New York City.

The ceremony will take place in the apartment at 944 Park avenue of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Hotz, who recently moved to New York from Lake Forest. Only the immediate families, including the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Johnston of New York, and a few close friends will be present. Mrs. Hotz will be her sister's only attendant, and the bridegroom's brother, Harold Johnston, will be best man.

Mr. Johnston and his bride will motor west this week to spend Christmas in Lake Forest with Mrs. Prindiville, who has been at the Deerpath inn since May. Mrs. Prindiville will go to Pasadena, Cal., next month to spend the winter at the Vista del Arroyo.

Plan Benefit for Camp for Crippled Children.

Lake Foresters scarcely will have time to recover from the gayeties of New Year's parties before they will find still another festive event on their program, a benefit movie and fashion show Jan. 4 in the Deerpath theater in Lake Forest, planned by the board of the Emilie Lehmann Peacock Camp for Crippled Children.

Mrs. H. Foster Straw, Mrs. Sidney Strotz, Mrs. Lithgow Mitchell, Mrs Stanley Morrill, Mrs. Theodore S. Proxmire, Mrs. Louis Hardin, Mrs. Owen West, Mrs. Leonard Prince, Mrs. Frank Reynolds, and Mrs. William Haerther, Mrs. Maurice Reynolds and Mrs. G. W. Reynolds, the three daughters of the late Mrs. Peacock, are among those working for the success of the benefit. A number of pretty young women will serve as fashion models, among them Miss Adele Proxmire. Miss Proxmire's Sarah Lawrence college roommate, Miss Josephine Dawes of New York, who will spend part of the Christmas holidays with Dr. and Mrs. Theodore S. Proxmire, also will model in the show.

Two Debutantes Will Make Bows at Parties Today.

A debut tea-dance, a debut dinner-dance, and several other debutante parties are on today's program. Miss Ann Elizabeth Hall, daughter of Gilbert Phelps Hall and granddaughter of Mrs. John B. Foley, and Miss Kathleen Kelly, daughter of the George Arthur Kellys, are today's buds.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall have come from Hollywood for the party they are giving from 4:30 until 7 o'clock at the Fortnightly for his daughter. Miss Hall, who has returned from Mt. Vernon Junior college to spend the holidays with her grandmother and aunt, Mrs. William D. Beggs, has asked Miss Mary Seymour Adams, Miss Caroline Chapman, Miss Louise Galbraith, Miss Kay Goodman, Miss Laura Moyer, Miss Anne Rickcords, Miss Jane Rockwood and Miss Julia Patterson to be her assistants.

From the tea-dance most of the debutantes and their beaux will have time just to dash home and change for the Kelly's dinner-dance, which is being given at the Arts club. The party also is serving as a bridal dinner for Miss Patricia Forsyth Kelly and John L. Irving, who are to be married Dec. 31. Debutante Miss Kelly is a student at Vassar.

Bows at Holiday Tea

The first holiday debut tea of the season was given at home in Glencoe yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. Edwin C. Austin to introduce to society their daughter, Miss Barbara Keith Austin, a student at Vassar. Among other parties for Miss Austin will be a luncheon Mrs. Kenneth S. Templeton and her daughter, Mrs. Sidney G. Johnson, will give Dec. 29, taking their guests afterward to the Monte Carlo Ballet Russe. The Johnsons are arriving Christmas eve from Cincinnati to visit the Templetons.

Barbara Field Wedding Today Highlights N. Y. Social Season

BY NANCY RANDOLPH.

New York, Dec. 19.—[Special.]—Quite the most consequential event of New York's winter social season takes place tomorrow with the wedding of Barbara Field, department store heiress, and Anthony A. Bliss. The ceremony, which will be performed at 4 o'clock in the Church of the Heavenly Rest, will unite one of the country's potentially richest young women and one of the most eligible young men in eastern society.

Barbara's father, Marshall Field III., was made the chief beneficiary of the will of the first Marshall Field, Chicago's great merchant prince. The fortune, which has been estimated at not less than $150,000,000, is still in trust and will be until 1943, when Mr. Field reaches the age of 50.

As the oldest daughter of the present Marshall Field's four children, Barbara will one day inherit a magnificent estate. The Fields have always lived luxuriously and entertained lavishly, but their money never has been frittered away by bad management.

The parties given for Barbara when she made her debut last year were the high-water marks of that social season. A year ago last June, Marshall Field launched his dark haired daughter into society, in the style consistent with her position as a golden girl, at a supper-dance at Caumsett, his Lloyd's Neck, Long Island estate. And the following December, Barbara's mother, Marshall's first wife and now Mrs. Diego Suarez, gave a supper-dance for her at the Ritz-Carlton to match the lavishness of Marshall's party.

Barbara and her husband-to-be share an enthusiasm for riding and the great out-of-doors. Both are members of the group of young sportsmen who have been endeavoring to make trotting races fashionable. Tony is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius N. Bliss Sr., whose estate is at Wheatley Hills, Long Island. His father is an important figure in financial and philanthropic circles. His grandfather, the late Cornelius N. Bliss, was secretary of the interior in the cabinet of President McKinley.

The Rev. Dr. Henry Darlington, rector of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, will officiate at tomorrow's wedding, assisted by the Rev. Horace W. B. Donegan, rector of St. James Protestant Episcopal church.

Miss Anna Glen Butler will be Barbara's maid of honor. The bridesmaids will be Miss Cynthina Banks, Miss Carolyn de Chadenades, Miss Bettine Field, Miss Audrey Gray, Miss Peggy Marshall, Miss Margaret Rives, Miss Janet Russell, and Misses Cecilia and Marie vom Rath.

Cornelius Bliss Jr. will be his brother's best man. Marshall Field Jr., brother of the bride, will be an usher, as will Alexander Cushing, Samuel Calloway, Ellsworth Bailey, Raymond Clark, Gordon Feary, Huston Hoffman, John Parkinson, Charles Potter, Peter Jay, and Frederic Moseley.

Another Young Gilda Is Given Opera Acclaim

BY CECIL SMITH.

Donning first the trailing draperies and later the boy's clothes of Rigoletto's daughter Gilda, Josephine La Placa, 18 year old Chicago soprano, won an accolade of applause in her big time operatic debut with the Chicago City Opera company in the Civic Opera house last night. Novel though this particular experience was both to Miss La Placa and to her audience, it was not quite an ice breaking undertaking. Eleven days ago Beverley Lane, also 18, won similar approval in the same rôle.

Miss La Placa had been carefully groomed for the occasion by Nicola Berardinelli, her voice teacher, and by Dino Bigalli, who coached her in the intricacies of her rôle and conducted last night's performance.

Nature endowed the young soprano with a voice of more than usual sweetness, light in texture, but full of the promise of future usefulness. A pretty face and a commendable sincerity of workmanship conspired to win her the affection of a well wishing capacity audience.

Miss La Placa's work has scarcely begun, however. She does not yet have a method of tone production secure enough to keep the simple loveliness of her voice from being obscured by a tendency, already begun, to let any or all of the tones above E spread.

A major operatic debut is a severe test at the age of 18—too severe, I honestly believe. What reason is there for impatience, when two more years of study could make the difference between a pleasant success among friends and a fully prepared initial appearance of real consequence?

George Czaplicki, the Rigoletto of the evening, was superb. Both vocally and dramatically his performance was planned and projected on an almost sensationally broad scale, and everything he did hit the audience between the eyes. Yet it was artistry of the highest order, for his vocal and histrionic effects alike were achieved with that economy of effort which comes from sound experience and discriminating imagination.

Joseph Bentonelli was remarkably effective as the duke, and made one wonder all over again why he does not take the few additional steps necessary to make his vocalism wholly first rate.

Good Morning!

We love and respect two noble midshipmen who have come to the United States Naval academy full of laudable ambition, and wait patiently till a third learns through varied experiences that there's more to being an officer and a gentleman than being just technically an officer and a gentleman.

"Navy Blue and Gold" is similar to many films of like background and subject matter. It has its moments both good and bad. You'll thrill to Truck Cross' quiet, heartbroken defense of his father. You'll cringe at a certain mawkish address by Roger Ash—played by Robert Young, who I thought not young enough for the rôle. Maybe I'm wrong.

Florence Rice qualifies delightfully as Richard's sister—heart's desire of her brother's two roommates. Lionel Barrymore plays well a somewhat soppy rôle—and you'll like Paul Kelly as football coach. Other players are adequate.

Looking at Hollywood by Ed Sullivan

The Week's Wash

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 19.—A famous foreign diplomat is running 'round in circles since Joan Bennett played Washington, D. C., in "Stage Door." . . . German Baron Barnekow, war ace, has washed out Delmar Daves in Kay Francis' affections. . . . Norma Shearer and David Niven aren't fooling. . . . Ditto Marlene Dietrich and Earl of Warwick. . . . New York's "21" was enlivened when portly Eddie Reeves tossed a roundhouse right hand poke at Erskine Gwynne. . . . Gwynne had burned him up by printing an unflattering photo in his mag. . . . The governess of England's Princess Elizabeth is tagged Joan Crawford, or. the level! . . . Mitzi Green's maw and paw are living apart; Mitzi is with her mother. . . . Rudy Vallee's new crush is Dorothy Hutchinson, newly arrived English actress. . . . He's really an ever-lovin' man. . . . The Vanderbilt clan is rushing off heiress Gloria Baker on a world cruise to break off her yen for Stork club bandleader Bobby Parks.

Joan Bennett, Interests a Diplomat.

Broadway reports that New Year's eve prices will hit a new low to lure trade. . . . Despite her pretended disinterest, Mrs. Jock Whitney is taking dramatic lessons from Constance Collier! . . . Bill Robinson, Cotton club star, is sending rabbits' feet to locals as Christmas presents. . . . Frank Shields leaves Tuesday for New York to play the lead in Marc Connolly's new show. . . . Now that Jay Carlisle is honeymooning with the ex-Mrs. Tommy Manville, Peggy Moffett Carlisle is readying wedding plans with George Atwell Jr. . . . They'll wed soon as he gets the final papers. . . . Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt is squiring Mary Maguire this week. . . . Olivia de Havilland and George Brent are running a temperature. . . . His ex, Constance Worth, is making the spots with Junior Laemmle. . . . Very funny, that crack in the Hollywood Reporter: That the local Salvation Army lasses, soliciting Christmas donations, are complaining of sunburn.

M.-G.-M. is raving over Ilona Massey, 24 year old Hungarian blonde, who was rushed into "Rosalie" four days after she got off the train here, and smash-clicked at the Westwood preview. . . . Her next will be a co-starring assignment with Nelson Eddy in "Balalaika" when he completes his concert tour. . . . Miss Massey, Ray Bolger, and Frank Morgan run away with top honors in "Rosalie," and Eleanor Powell had another bad performance chalked up against her. . . . If her studio doesn't devise a new way of presenting her the Powell girl's movie days are numbered.

The Mae West catastrophic radio appearance might have been prevented if Dave Mack, who runs the program, hadn't been home bedded with grippe. . . . Inside dope is that Mae rejected the first script, prepared by Keith Fowler, and supervised the second one by Archie Oboler. . . . I liked Charlie McCarthy's statement: "This is one time Edgar Bergen will have to speak for both of us." . . . Sir Stork is expected at the Felix Feists, the Walter Myers [Margie Hartmann], and the Henry Kings [Vilma Lewis]. . . . RUN!

By Patricia Wentworth

[Copyright: 1937: By Patricia Wentworth Turnbull.]

SYNOPSIS.

Delivering a new car to a customer James Elliot, lost in the fog, finds himself on some one's estate. Groping his way to the dark house he stumbles over a bicycle. The front door is ajar. Entering, his flashlight reveals a girl, who commands him to "run!" A shot whistles after them as they flee to hide in the hayloft. The girl tells James she was searching for a necklace her dying Aunt Clementa had told her was hidden in the house, called Rere place. The girl vanishes before James can learn more. At his cousin Daphne's party James meets the girl. She is Sally West, the sister of his college chum, Jocko West. She hints of danger to him—because of what he saw—her brother, and herself. Jackson, a rival salesman, takes credit for driving the car the night of the fog and is run over on the road and killed. Sally sees James. She is in fear of Ambrose Sylvester, the novelist, who is her guardian and was her aunt's trustee, also his wife, Hildegarde, and the latter's cousin, Henri Niemeyer, who wants to marry Sally. Jocko, after receiving a letter from his dying aunt, was pushed off a cliff. After the accident the letter is missing and Jocko cannot remember its contents. Sally and James fall in love, but she tells him it is too dangerous for them to meet.

INSTALMENT XXV.

HIDDEN EVIDENCE.

"Why on earth should Daphne and Bonzo go to Rere place?"

Sally jerked her hands away suddenly and sat back.

"Why should anyone try to kill Jocko? Because that's what it comes to. Someone pushed him over that ledge, and it was someone who knew he had had that letter—someone who wasn't sure how much of it he had read—someone who had to make sure that he didn't go on reading it—someone who stole it whilst we were all wondering whether he was dead."

"Why?" said James in a solid, matter-of-fact voice.

"Because of what was in the letter," said Sally, panting a little.

"Sally—what was in the letter?"

She beat her hands together again, an oddly effective gesture which he had never seen used by anyone else.

"I don't know—I don't know—I don't know—and what's the good of guessing?"

"Sally, do you know who it was—honest?"

"No, I don't. I keep telling you—and you don't believe me—and I don't know. It might have been Bonzo, or Daphne, or Henri, or Hildegarde, or Ambrose—or me."

"Sally!"

She stared at him defiantly.

"I was there, wasn't I? Everyone of the others had the same right to suspect me that I have to suspect them. Jocko has the same right."

"I wish you wouldn't talk nonsense!" said James crossly. "You're just being dramatic, and it doesn't get us anywhere. I suppose you're not going to argue that it was you who fired at us? Or are you?"

"O!" said Sally in a quick, angry breath, "James, I simply hate you!"

"No you don't. Come off it! Look here—Jocko told me your Aunt Clementa hed left him Rere place and five thousand a year. Who does it go to if anything happens to him!"

"Me," said Sally.

They looked at each other for a moment without speaking. Then he said, "And after you, Sally?"

"And after you, Sally?"

"Ambrose," said Sally in a whisper.

James got up and went over to the window. He jerked back the curtain and threw up the sash. A cold, damp air came in. He stood staring out into the dark. The backs of the tall houses in Hinton Street rose up like cliffs, with a twinkle of light here and there. He was thinking, Jocko first—Sally next . . . How long for Sally when Jocko was gone? Or would Sally be done in in a different way—quite legally, morally, and religiously done in by way of marriage with Henri Niemeyer? . . . Probably. One accident might pass, but two would be rather conspicuous, especially if they left Ambrose Sylvester heir to Rere place and five thousand a year.

His frown deepened. Was that the objective? If it was, where did Aunt Clementa's letter come in, and the shooting at Rere place, and Jackson's death? . . . They didn't come in at all. And if they didn't come in, then there must be something more. The money and Rere place were not sufficient motive. They were, in fact, no motive at all when it came to the shooting, and poor Jackson. He remembered something, turned around, and went back to Sally.

"Sally," said James, "you've got to tell me what you know. I won't go on in the dark like this. It isn't safe—for any of us. It really isn't. You've got to be sensible. Let's go back to your Aunt Clementa, and the day you went to see her and she gave you the letter for her old maid."

Sally's lashes rose. Her green eyes looked at him.

"Jocko's letter was inside it. I'm sure it was."

"Yes. We'll have to find out about that from Annie. Where does she live?"

"London—somewhere out in the Ealing direction."

"All right, I'll see her. Well, after she'd given you the letter and you'd got the nurse out of the room, you said your aunt began to whisper, and you said she told you she'd hidden something, and you said it was better to go on calling it a diamond necklace. Now, Sally, I want to know what it was she had hidden."

"I don't know. I never found it. That's what I went there for that afternoon, to try and find it."

"You say you don't know what it was, but you know what she told you. I want to know just what she said."

"James, I do really think she may have been wandering. She was very old and wandery."

"Tell me what she said."

"Yes, I'll tell you—I must—I can't go on. She began to whisper like I told you, and she said, 'All the names—I've hidden them—they don't know—wicked, wicked people. I took the book, and I hid it.'"

"The book—you're sure she said the book?"

"I'm telling you just exactly what she said. It was all in bits, you know, and I thought she'd been dreaming, so I said, 'Don't worry, darling—it's a dream. You know you can't get out of bed.' And she squeezed my hand, and gave a funny little laugh, and said, 'They all think I can't, but I can. Even Annie—but I can. I walk about in the night and I hear things—wicked people. But I got the book—they don't know.' Then there was something about finding it, but I didn't get that because the smarty nurse came in. That's all James—it really is."

"A book—" said James in a puzzled voice. It all sounded quite mad. "Have you any idea what she meant?"

Sally shook her head.

"You say you went over that day to look for this book. Why did you wait so long? She's been dead for more than a year, hasn't she?"

"I didn't think about it before. I thought she was wandering. We stayed abroad till the spring, and by then it all seemed finished and done with. Jocko was in India."

"And what made it seem not finished and done with? Because in the end you did go to Rere place to look for—this book."

"I know. It was Jocko. He wrote and said he was coming home, and he said something about getting on with Aunt Clementa's treasure-hunt, and another time something about looking for a needle in a bundle of hay, and then lots about opening the house and living there and all that sort of thing. So then I thought"—she looked at him pleadingly—"I couldn't help thinking—it might be better—for Jocko—not to stir things up—so I thought if I could find—whatever there was to find—before Jocko came—it wouldn't be so—dangerous—for him."

"I see. What made you go to Rere place that afternoon?"

"It was a beastly afternoon. I was at a loose end. It seemed a good plan. So I took Gladys' bicycle and went."

"Gladys?"

"The housemaid. She had flu. I told you."

Fashioning a pretty, Christmasy salad doesn't require the clever fingers of an artist. Only a little care and the exercise of good taste are required.

A salad to represent a package from under the Christmas tree, one which might be called a modernistic portrait of a poinsettia—these and others are simple to make either for the Christmas dinner, or for a holiday party of almost any kind.

CHRISTMAS PACKAGE SALAD.

Christmas package salad may be made in various forms. One of the prettiest is a triangular shape achieved with long, salted wafers. Form a box shape, by placing three wafers on edge in triangular fashion. Tie in place by winding a narrow red ribbon around them, with a bow on one side. A little cream cheese at the edges may help to keep the crackers in place. This arrangement is the Christmas package, which is the basis for an individual salad. Place it on lettuce, watercress, or other greens [the greener the better, for color purposes] and fill with a combination fruit salad, topping with a maraschino cherry. Each serving may be garnished with a sprig of holly if it is available.

The same sort of salad may be made in square shape, using square salted wafers, but sometimes these are harder to keep in place until the salad is put into them.

FROZEN BLUSHING PEARS.

Use small, halved, canned pears. Fill centers with chopped maraschino cherries, nuts, and raisins, moistened with sherry wine. Place two halves together with cream cheese as the "cement," and insert a whole cherry in the stem end of each pear. Paint a "blush" on each pear with a light application of red vegetable coloring. Place in refrigerator freezing trays and freeze rapidly until firm but not hard and icy. Serve on crisp greens and pass whipped cream and mayonnaise dressing separately.

POINSETTIA SALAD.

Place a pineapple ring, with a cheese ball in the center, on a nest of lettuce. Sprinkle chopped nuts over the cheese ball and radiate from it six or eight strips of pimiento to make the petals of the poinsettia. Serve with mayonnaise or French dressing.

CHRISTMAS WREATH SALAD.

A Christmas wreath salad is quickly made from rings of canned pineapple. Halved grapes are laid atop these in a neat ring, each half slightly overlapping the next. A red bow is easily formed from thinly sliced pimiento, and the entire salad is effective on a bed of watercress or chicory [curly endive].

Planning Christmas dinner is no trouble at all if you use one of the menus suggested by Mary Meade in her booklet "Holidays and Holiday Meals," on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower, for 20 cents; by mail, 23 cents in stamps. Address mail requests to Mary Meade, Chicago Tribune.

Swedish Choir in 'Messiah' on Yule Program

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The stage of Orchestra hall yesterday afternoon was as crowded a half acre as Cook county could boast. The huge Swedish Choral club, a generous sized piece of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, four soloists, an organist, and a conductor had assembled there to give Handel's "Messiah" its first downtown performance of the 1937 Christmas season. Flowers and plants took what space was not otherwise needed and gave the spectacle a cheerful holiday air.

The majesty and power of the Swedish Choral club are old stories now. So is the care and musicianship of Harry T. Carlson, its director. A still older tale is the quality of "The Messiah," which for 195 years has remained the most eloquent and widely appealing musical expression of the Christmas story—if not of the entire Christian belief.

Of the four soloists, Else Harthan Arendt in "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth" and Charles Sears in the recitative "Thy Rebuke Has Broken His Heart," marred their work by too great a vibrato. Raymond Koch delivered his "Why Do the Nations" delivered his "Why Do the Nation?" with sufficient fury, yet managed to preserve most of the time his attractive vocal texture.

At the Great Northern yesterday Jerzy Bojanowski, well liked Polish conductor, served as guest director of the Illinois Symphony orchestra. He presented an interesting and well performed program which extended from the age of Bach to the present day.

Vitaly Schnee, Chicago pianist and teacher, played the Mozart C minor concerto in a rather robust but thoroughly knowing manner. The work of both conductor and soloist was cordially received by a good sized audience.

Attendance at Opera Shows a Gain; Look Toward 1938 Season

Attendance at the Chicago City Opera company during the seven week season which came to its official close Saturday night averaged 75 per cent of capacity, as against an average of 65 per cent for the 1936 season. Seventeen of the 50 performances were sold out.

Figures on the season's deficit are not yet available. It was $53,000 last year. The 1937 season, however, was one week longer, and the average cost of each performance was increased by about 25 per cent.

As a result of "an artificially triumphant season," Jason F. Whitney, president of the company, looks forward to next season with hope and confidence, he said.

Two successful performances given in Milwaukee point to the possibility of resuming a post-season tour, an annual feature of the schedule of the pre-depression Chicago Civic Opera company.

Every Film Star Possesses a Special Claim to Beauty

Ann Sothern has the most voluptuous lips in Hollywood and the most easily made up mouth.

Gladys Swarthout gives the greatest coöperation to makeup men and has consistent regard for the feelings of every one with whom she comes in contact on the set.

All these notes come from Newt Johns, one of the film capital's most expert makeup men. Johns has been putting lips, eyebrows, and other features in their proper places for some years, and has ample time and opportunity to study the situation.

Smith College Clubs Hold Yule Luncheon This Noon

The Chicago Smith College club and the Evanston-North Shore Smith club will hold their annual Christmas luncheon this noon in the Blackstone hotel. Phyllis Fergus Hoyt, a Smith alumna and national president of the National League of American Penwomen, will present the "Highwayman" and other story poems with original musical settings.

The James B. Forgans are entertaining for their niece, Sidney Meeker, at the Casino, where two sub-debs, Carol Blossom and Carol Fox, also are giving a dinner before the Fortnightly. They are daughters of the Francis R. Blossoms and of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Fox.

The trio is going to Neenah to visit another daughter of the Grangers, Mrs. Chester Shepard, and her family. Mrs. Blair will stop in Chicago just for a day or two on her way home to Washington, but the Grangers will be here for a month after Christmas.

Modishly Styled Lingerie

WOMAN'S AND MISS' SLIP.

A plentiful supply of princess slips is a necessity in any fastidious woman's wardrobe. One must have at least a half dozen to have a clean one always at hand without laundering at night after a busy day. Such slips must be form-fitted so that they may be worn with any style of frock. The design offered today is an ideal one. The bodice line dips down in both front and back. This is especially important in view of the fact that the new low V neckline of current frocks should not expose an expanse of lace and silk. The straps are so placed that they will stay on the shoulders. Through the bust, waist and hips the garment is fitted meticulously, while the hemline has ample flare.

The same pattern may be used for an evening slip, identical in every respect to the garment for daytime wear, except that lace usually is omitted and the skirt is lengthened. For decoration one may employ a monogram, for which embroidery pattern No. E-11012 provides beautifully. This pattern is available for ten cents extra.

All wash silks, in both pastel and dark shades, are suitable and inexpensive. If you're making the street length slip you may utilize the remnant bargains available in all the stores.

Style No. 2041 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18 and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 2½ yards of 39 inch material, with 3½ yards of lace for the street-length slip.

Some Parents Find Santa Is Real Problem

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Santa Claus! Little jolly old fellow working in his cozy shop at his own north pole; dashing around the deep blue, star spangled winter sky; cracking his whip over tiny prancing reindeer decked with the most musical sleighbells that ever were; doing the absolutely impossible.

Santa Claus! Ineffable delight of a child's heart. Could you quite stand the ecstasy of the night before Christmas when you were a child? I couldn't. Why, he's as real as—real.

And yet—he isn't. And that's why, although he'd be the last person in the world to wish it, he causes some mothers a lot of worry.

Because he's not real he's made a "moral issue" of by some grownups, just as fairies are made a moral issue of. They say it's lying to talk about Santa Claus as if he were real.

Others toss morals to the wind and not only say to their children that there is a Santa Claus, but they go to all lengths to fix and prolong the belief, thinking that Christmas would lose interest for their children without Santa Claus.

In addition he's used as a bribe and a threat: "Santa will give you this if you're a good little girl"—"Santa won't leave you any presents if you're a bad little boy."

In between these two extremes lies, I believe, a way of solving the Santa Claus problem. How horrible! Calling even Santa a problem! But he is that to some parents, either from the beginning or later when childish but astute scientific questions are put, such as, "But how can he get all the children in the world presents in his sleigh?" and "But we haven't any chimney," down to the tense moment when round eyes look straight into yours, "Mommie, is there a Santa Claus?" In one of these three ways he is a problem to many fathers and mothers.

What is it best to do about Santa? is the question many parents ask me. I shall give you an answer tomorrow.

"Gifts the Children Can Make" and "Enlarged Leaflet of Gifts the Children Can Make" are helpful to parents. Each one will be sent out on receipt of a large stamped, self-addressed envelope. Address Mrs. Gladys Bevans, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

Mrs. Bevans' column also appears in The Sunday Tribune.

The Housewife

BY EDITH WEIGLE.

Did you know you could give your kitchen a charming new note of color by applying some new paste-me-ups to the walls and cabinets? They are available in two new designs, Mexicano and La Paloma, and as their names suggest, they are Mexican in feeling.

The Mexicano package contains two designs of mountains, two large cacti designs as well as two small cacti, and cutout figures of two peons in gay serapes and sombreros and two burros.

The La Paloma packet has two birds, two large flowers and two small ones, and six sprays of foliage.

No paste is needed. Each cutout has a special adhesive back and can be taken down from the wall whenever you wish. These items are as inexpensive as they are attractive.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1937: By Ely Culbertson.]

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: When you are vulnerable and are doubled at a high contract, and the play develops in such a way that you can [a] risk a large set for the possibility of fulfilling a contract, or [b] play more safely to go down a limit of two tricks, what is the proper decision? Perhaps, if I submit a specific hand and tell you the story about it, you can answer categorically.

East, dealer.

SOUTH

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 club	1 diamond	1 spade	2 diamonds
2 spades	Pass	3 spades	Pass
4 spades	Pass	Pass	5 diamonds
Double	Pass	Pass	Pass

"I was South and I shivered when North bid five diamonds. I was sorry I ever had opened my mouth. Well, the king of spades was opened and East played the seven. The spade continuation was won by East, and the club king was led. I won with the ace. See my problem? If the heart queen were with East and if I finessed and lost, the set would be terrific. If the heart queen were with West, and if I finessed, there was a chance to make my contract, that is if the diamond king were with East. What would you have done? Keep in mind, too, that the heart queen could be three times in either hand and drop on the third round, affording a discard of a club on the heart ten. But the trumps must be drawn and the diamond king must be with East. If that were so, I'd be down only one.

"As you can well see, there are several ways to play this hand. A set of three or four, a set of one, or a fulfilment of the contract. I'd like to know what the percentages are.

"Yours truly,
"M. U., Boston, Mass."

The question my correspondent asks is one that plagues the best players in the land. Confining our attention especially to the above hand, and the situation involved, the proposition resolves down to this:

Declarer does not know the location of the diamond king and the heart queen. If both are right, i. e., finessable, the doubled contract is as good as made. If, however, declarer risks the heart finesse and it goes wrong, East immediately will cash two club tricks, and the set will be either 800 or 1,100 points, depending on whether or not the diamond king can be captured.

While the diamond finesse remains in doubt, it would be foolish to try the heart finesse. Declarer's first play on winning the lead should be to enter dummy with a spade ruff, then to lead the diamond queen through East. Only after the king had been captured and the trumps drawn should declarer ponder over the heart situation. He should figure as follows:

If the heart finesse succeeds, the contract, which is worth about 700 points, is made. If the finesse is refused in favor of trying to drop the heart queen on the third round by a ruff, thus affording a spot for one club discard, the penalty can be no less than 200 points and, if the heart queen refuses to drop, 500 points, a mean of 350 points. Finally, if the heart finesse is tried without success, the penalty becomes 800 points. Comparing these figures, we see that declarer has only an additional 450 points to lose above the mean of 350, whereas he has 700 points to gain. Obviously, "percentage" favors the finesse. Of course, these calculations leave out the possibility that the heart queen may drop doubleton in East's hand. This possibility seems remote because of what we know about East's distribution, which included only one diamond and, very likely, only three spades.

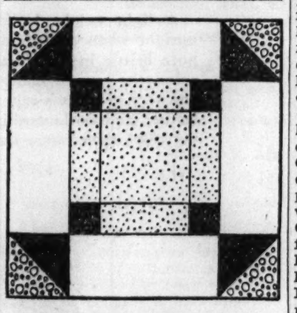
"Puss in Corner" Is Simple Type of Pieced Quilt



Puss in Corner.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

There are numerous "Puss in Corner" quilt patterns, but today's design is listed among the old ones and it also has another name, "Yankee Charm." This simple pieced pattern usually is done in two shades of blue and white. It is not a difficult design, so that the beginning needleworker may choose this pattern, piece the blocks, and set them together with plain blocks in an alternate arrangement. The squares measure 9 inches each way, and fifty pieced and forty-nine plain blocks are surrounded by a 5 inch border and a ½ inch bias binding to create a coverlet measuring 91 by 109 inches.

Water Colors by Robinson Have Sparkle

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

One of the most attractive exhibitions in town this holiday season is that of water colors by the late Florence Robinson, shown under the auspices of the Renaissance society of the University of Chicago, in 205 Weiboldt hall.

Miss Robinson was a pupil of Pierre Vignal, Harpignies, and Dagnan Bouveret; she enjoys an international reputation as a painter and her work, though serious, is sparkling.

These water colors are intriguing travel notes, giving in a brilliantly easy manner a refreshingly original point of view as regards foreign architecture, landscapes, and scenes in general. The painter's wit never deserts her and her appreciation of pure color lends a radiance to church and village, to house and shop front that is most unusual and extremely attractive.

The vivid splashes of sunlight should be particularly remarked and the sensitive manner in which Miss Robinson literally interprets the character of whatever bit of building happens to fall within the circumference of her composition.

The water colors are picturesque, spirited, and enchantingly alive. The exhibit will continue through Jan. 8.

The day and evening classes of the Art institute will be closed during the Christmas holidays to open again on Monday, Jan. 3. The cafeteria will be open for fountain service until Christmas day, but will be closed the following week.

There are three exhibitions at the Art institute which holiday visitors to Chicago will want to see. Chief among them is the fascinating series of miniature rooms by Mrs. James Ward Thorne, about which the most enthusiastic comments are none too warm. These tiny rooms are gems, exquisitely perfect in every detail.

The Sixth International exhibition of Lithographs and Wood Engraving is in the print rooms on the first floor of the museum and is well worth seeing. It is a serious, sturdy show, vigorous, practical, and interesting.

On the second floor is the American Paintings and Sculpture exhibition which could be immeasurably better than it is had it been selected and juried with better taste. As it stands there is a plethora of bad painting present and only a dozen or so redeeming canvases.

Gifts Bought? Treat Yourself to a New Dress

BY RHEA SEEGER.

There's been enough prowling about the shops to do a dozen good Christmases. This last week can be used for snooping for the last few items you forgot or better yet, to buy a dress or two to add to the festivities. Nothing equals the pick-up of a new dinner dress or new bright one to wear under a fur coat.

If you're smart you'll spend your money for tucks and pleats for a new daytime dress to contrast the fur coat. See the light colored wools and crêpes for this stunt. Sunburst pleated skirts will accent a tiny waistline. Bodice tops are tucked to the last half inch either diagonally, vertically, or a mixup of the two.

Or you can pick pleated short skirts accenting a shirtlike top with a high collar, or a true shirt waist top with pockets and other tailored details.

Prints as gaudy as the plumage of a parrot are ready for southbound baggage and they'll probably come back for summer wear too. These prints feature white backgrounds blazing with the dizziest combines of colors and patterns ever unpacked. Such silk stuff takes all eyes, after weeks of gloom and fog.

Smart crisp black and white silk prints always charm, but these new pleated black and whites are irresistible. You'll wear them now under fur coats and way into spring and summer with daring bright accessories. Thin wools feature cloud blue [a grand color for brown or black fur coats], a dusty soft pink, a pale beige, green, and yellow. Black and navy blue are available for immediate wear. All have short sleeves. High lighted necklines on the dark colors are managed with glinting edges of silver or gold kidskin that pickup the patterns of the smart belts.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

For your last minute Christmas roundups, especially if you're shopping for a woman with impeccable taste, we suggest some exquisitely packaged cosmetics and bath glorifiers now to be found.

There is, for something simple and not expensive, a liquid "body tonic," in a new, completely delightful fragrance called "Meadow-sweet." The name is perfect; this is exactly the fresh, blithe sort of scent that should have such a name. The bottle is tall and frosted, with a blue top. This would be a marvelous gift for the woman who is ill, incidentally. But every woman who cherishes the sense of well being that a luxurious bath gives her would adore it.

The creator of this lotion has many other things, delightful creams, lipsticks and powders, all finely packaged and of wonderful quality.

But if you're afraid to take a guess as to the sort of cosmetics your feminine friends might like, look at the dusting powder. This is in a nosegay package—a round container of blue with a gold band encircling the top. On the very top there is a pretty little nosegay of velvet flowers in bright colors. It isn't fussy; it's charming. The powder is very fine, the perfume quite beautiful. You can buy this singly or in a gift package combined with bath salts. It's a stunning box, with a removable tray.

The same after-the-bath powder is combined in still another package with a fine cologne. Choose the one you'd prefer for yourself.

AMERICANS SHUT OUT HAWKS THIRD TIME, 1-0

BOB NEU LEADS DE PAUL FIVE TO 46-19 VICTORY

Games Tonight

Purdue at Loyola.
Illinois at Temple.
Iowa at Xavier.
Michigan at Dartmouth.
Nebraska at Minnesota.

Lanky Bob Neu, junior guard, scored five field goals and seven free throws—17 points—last night to lead the De Paul university basketball team to a 46 to 19 triumph over St. Louis university at De Paul gymnasium. It was the second game in two nights for both teams.

De Paul, which might have been expected to appear tired after its 60 to 50 battle with Purdue Saturday, set a fast pace throughout. The Blue Demons experienced some trouble in hitting the basket during the first few minutes, but by the middle of the opening half they were scoring consistently and proceeded to pile up a lead.

St. Louis Loses Lead.

St. Louis, after taking an 8 to 2 lead in the first five minutes slumped off to trail 22 to 12 at the half. The Billikens could score only twice from the field in the second half. Capt. Sid Mudd, guard, was their leading scorer with seven points on two field goals and three free throws.

Mudd opened the game with a long shot from the side, but Neu tied it for De Paul with a short basket. Dennis Cochran and his brother Bill then teamed for three baskets, two by the former, to give the Billikens their 8 to 2 advantage. De Paul, its shots still missing, moved into a tie on free throws and Szukala's long shot, then went ahead to stay on Tollstam's short field goal.

Reserves Increase Lead.

The Demons ran their lead to 22 to 12 at half time on baskets by Tollstam, Neu, Crowley, and Szukala and two free throws by Neu. During this time the only Billiken able to find the range was Mudd, who contributed a basket and two free throws.

The second half found De Paul even more dominating offensively, and after the regulars had run up a 38 to 19 lead, reserves entered the game and not only protected the margin, but added to it. Lineups:

LOYOLA MEETS PURDUE

Basketball fans who have complained in recent years that the development of ironclad defensive play had taken the scoring thrill out of their favorite pastime should have their fill of baskets tonight when the Loyola and Purdue university quintets meet in Alumni gymnasium at the north side school. The game will start at 8:15 o'clock.

Loyola has proved, by its total of ninety-nine points in two starts this season, that its players have high scoring ability, while as much can be said for Purdue, which has taken Indiana State, Detroit, Xavier, and De Paul in stride.

Novak Stars on Defense.

Novak has demonstrated in his squad's two games that his height as an offensive factor was over emphasized at the cost of the credit due him for excellence on defense.

Those fans who insist that the score is the thing will have an opportunity tonight to compare the marksmanship of two of the game's cleverest sharpshooters in Wibs Kautz of the Ramblers, who accounted for 187 points last season, and Jewell Young, pride of the Boilermakers, who established a new Big Ten record with 172 points in conference games alone.

Paired with Young at forward is Johnny Sines, who scored twenty-three points in the Boilermakers' opening battle with Indiana State and contributed sixteen points to his team's 60 to 50 triumph over De Paul Saturday night.

Anderson at Center.

Lanky Gene Anderson will be the Boilermakers' choice for starting center with Tom Dickinson, a junior from Lafayette, a certain starter at one guard post. The other guard assignment is a tossup between Pat Malaska, veteran holdover, and Fred Beretta, a sophmore.

Loyola expects to send Kautz, scorer of forty-one points in his team's two games, and Bob Brennan, long shot specialist, into action at guards. Brennan is recovering from an arm infection and has indicated in recent workouts that he is ready for full time duty.

Bill O'Brien, a 6 foot 4 inch junior, and Bill Lynch, a senior, who garnered ten of Loyola's points against Valparaiso last week, will be at forwards with Mike Novak at center.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Blackhawks last night for the third time this season were reminded that they never can beat the New York Americans until some night when they score a goal. The ratio of last evening's shutout at the hands of the New Yorkers was 1 to 0. In the three games the teams have played against each other the Americans won, 3 to 0 in the season opener here and 4 to 0 in New York on Nov. 27. It is beginning to appear that the Hawks do not quite grasp the fine points of the American defense.

Thirteen thousand saw the game.

It cannot be said that the Hawks didn't try everything in their bag of tricks and exert themselves to the full extent of their stamina. But all the time there was some New Yorker or other in their path to the payoff.

Mr. Smith Does It All.

The Hawks were so anxious last night to turn on the red light that Goalie Mike Karakas was benched in the closing seconds of play that the team might employ six forwards to whack at Goalie Robertson's boots, but it was no use. They might as well wrap bunting around the American cage when the Hawks are playing, thus putting the contraption to a decorative use, at least.

The only goal of the evening was accomplished by Hooley Smith on a pass from Jack Shill with only fifty-eight seconds remaining in the second period. Although the Americans must have felt secure with a one goal lead against the Hawks, it may be said to their credit that they did not abandon offensive play in the final period, which, with the desperation of the Hawks, made a mighty lively third period.

The Hawks will not play at home again until Jan. 2. However, they will not have to stand for a fourth shutout at the hands of the Americans on their impending road trip.

It's Good Exercise, Anyway.

The first period was the seventh twenty-minute session the Hawks had played against the Americans this year and, though they threatened frequently, the period went into the records as the seventh scoreless period the Hawks have skated against the New Yorkers.

There was the solace, however, that the Hawks were able in the first period to hold the Americans, something they hadn't been able to do in earlier clashes this season.

The Hawks' biggest opportunity of the period came in the first few minutes, when Shill was put off for tripping Wiebe and was joined by Jerwa, who checked Romnes into the boards with a bit too much violence. There were zealous efforts at that power stuff but, aside from a couple of hot shots by March and Gottselig, there was no considerable threat.

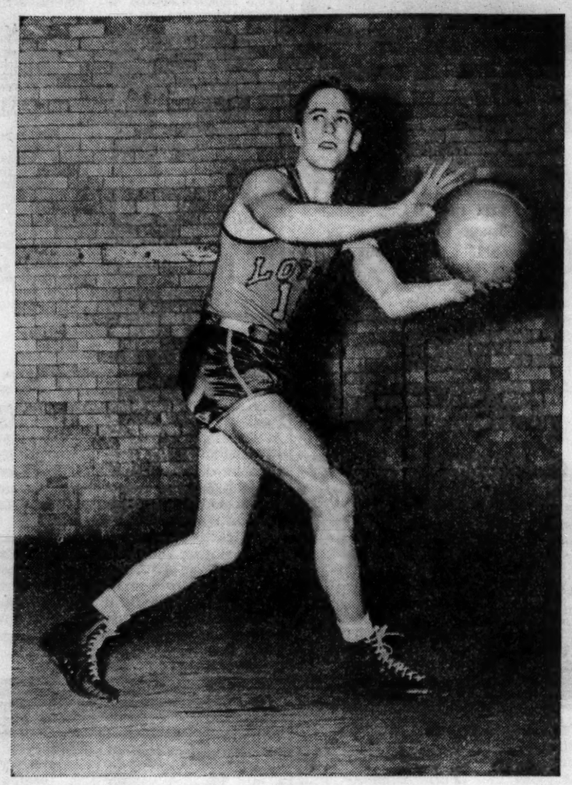
It Couldn't Last Forever.

There were fifty-eight seconds to go in the second period for another zero session. Then the Americans scored—just a few seconds after Goalie Karakas had staved off trouble with tremendous saves. As the period went into the final minute, Shill came into the Hawk defense zone to continue the series of attacks which had so engrossed Karakas. The Hawk defense men clustered about Shill and, though they penned him in, they didn't capture the puck. Shill passed to Smith, swerving in from his left boards, and this time Karakas was unable to effect a miracle of the kind which had stopped the New Yorkers so often previously.

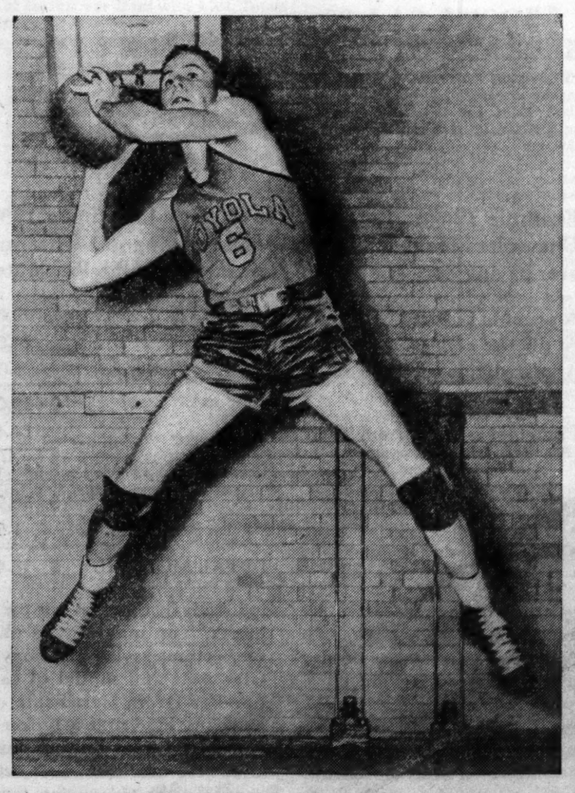
In the first fifteen minutes of the third period Gottselig, Romnes, and Mackenzie each got a shot at Goalie Robertson's shins, and with a little luck or a little less skill on Robby's party, any or all of these shots might have tallied without blemishing the reputation of the New York goalie.

In the last five minutes the Hawks played desperately and courageously but, though they kept the puck in the American defense zone much of the time, they just couldn't get it past the goal line.

Trouble Ahead for Purdue



When Loyola's basketball team meets Purdue tonight at Alumni gymnasium, Wibs Kautz, Loyola guard, is expected to be a big factor in the north siders' offense. Kautz is a sharpshooter who scored 187 points last season.



Bob Brennan, also a guard, is adept at long shots. He has recovered from an arm infection and in recent workouts has indicated he can play at top speed.

GHEZZI SCORES 204; TAKES LEAD IN NASSAU GOLF

NASSAU, Bahamas, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Victor Ghezzi went into the lead in the $3,500 Nassau open golf tournament today with two 66s. each four under par, for a 54 hole total of 204.

Ghezzi's rounds gave him a two stroke margin over Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., who added a pair of 70s to his opening 66 for a 206 total. Ghezzi had scored a 72 yesterday.

Denny Shute, P. G. A. champion of Coral Gables, Fla., and Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y., were tied for third with 209s. Shute shot rounds of 69 and 70 today while Runyan came in with 71 and 68. Each had an opening 70.

Jack Grout of Hershey, Pa., also trailed the leader by five strokes, with 69—71 added to his first round 69 for a 209.

Mac Farlane and Walsh Tied.

Willie Mac Farlane of Old Oaks, N. Y., last year's Nassau open winner, put together two rounds of 71 for a 211 total along with Frank Walsh of Chicago, who scored 69 and 70 today.

Johnny Revolta of Evanston, Ill., who won the $10,000 Miami Biltmore open last week, shot a 68 and 71 today, but apparently was out of the running. His total was 213 after an opening 74.

Ghezzi, swarthy winner of the last New Jersey open, played the greatest golf of his career as he twice equaled the course record established yesterday by Snead. He hit every green on his second round, after missing only two on the first. He was in only one trap all day, and holed six putts of more than 12 feet on the forenoon round. He didn't go over par on a single hole, collecting four birdies on each round, all on the first nine.

Burke Shoots 66.

Billy Burke of Belleair, Fla., also blasted out a 66 today on his second round, but previous scores of 75 and 73 left him far down the list with a 214 total. Burke didn't miss a green in getting his 66.

The tournament ends with 18 holes tomorrow.

BOSTON RETAINS LEAD; DEFEATS DETROIT, 4 TO 2

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 19.—(AP)—Boston retained its lead in the American division of the National Hocky league tonight as Charlie Sands and Cooney Weiland each scored two goals to defeat Detroit, 4 to 2, before 9,885 spectators.

The championship Red Wings, sinking deeper into the division cellar with their fifth successive defeat, were kept from a shutout by Modere Bruneteau's two goals.

Sands drove a long shot from right wing past Goalie Norm Smith midway of the first period, and Bruneteau tied the score five minutes later, beating Tiny Thompson with a short poke from right wing.

Pass Rolls In.

A freak goal by Weiland, in which his shove of the puck past Defenseman Jimmy Orlando skidded under Smith as the goalie dove to meet it, put Boston ahead at 2:36 of the second period.

Bruneteau cut the lead to a single goal midway of the third period on Hec Kilrea's pass. With five forwards down on wild rushes for the tying goal, the Red Wings lost their last chance when Sands broke into the clear and fired a shot at Smith which the goalie stopped, only to see Weiland pick up the rebound for the final goal.

Lightweights Headline Marigold Card.

Al Nettlow, former Golden Gloves champion, who has been defeated twice by Larry Greb, Milwaukee lightweight, will come back for more tonight in a return bout at ten rounds with Greb at Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street. The match tops the only professional boxing show scheduled this week.

Nettlow, who went four rounds with Greb in their first meeting March 1 and seven in their next June 2, is annoyed no little over these setbacks, setbacks he calls "mistakes that will be corrected tonight."

Here's Al's Reason.

The basis for Al's confidence is two victories he scored over Varias Milling at the Stadium, the first Oct. 6 and the second Nov. 16.

Shortly before his first adventure with Nettlow, Milling whipped Kid Sila at Milwaukee one week after Sila had knocked out Greb.

Joyce Battles Scully.

Willie Joyce, also a Golden Gloves alumnus, and Sam Scully renew hostilities in a four round event. They battled to a draw last week. Tom Kenneally, heavyweight stablemate of Nettlow, will try for his third triumph in three pro starts in an additional four rounder with Lou Campbell. Eddie [Twin] Helstrom, Rogers Park welterweight, will test Kurt Kreb, just out of the amateur ranks, in the four round curtain raiser.

Fritz Von Schacht and Jim McMillen will take the spotlight on the wrestling program this evening at White City, 63d street and South Park avenue. Preliminary efforts match Ole Olson with Jack [Bad Boy] Brown, Stan Buresch with Charley [Gorilla] Grubmyer, Paul Miller with Roy Rickenbacher, and Joe Orawiec with Ken Fenlon.

Boxers in seven weight classes in the annual amateur boxing tournament sponsored by the Illinois Athletic club, Jan. 12, 13, and 19, will be allowed only one pound over the class limit. In the event a contestant carries more than the stipulated poundage he will have to compete in the next division or face disqualification.

Applicants weighing more than 176 pounds must fight in the heavyweight class. The class limit, including the one pound allowance, follow: Light heavyweight, 176 pounds; middleweight, 161; welterweight, 148; lightweight, 136; featherweight, 127; bantamweight, 118; flyweight, 113.

Buddy Baer, whose three round knockout of Eddie Hogan, Waterbury, Conn., heavyweight, at Madison Square Garden Friday places him in line for a big money match, paused in the loop yesterday en route from New York to his home in Oakland, Cal., to spend Christmas with his family. He was accompanied by his manager, Ancil Hoffman, and Trainer Izzy Kline. . . Oscar O'Hanlon, flyweight member of the Golden Gloves team which held Germany to a tie, four bouts to four, in 1932, will conduct an amateur fight show tonight at the Roller rink in Waukegan. . . . Fritz Von Schacht may be Bobby Bruns' foe in the mat windup at Rainbo Fronton Wednesday. In supporting encounters Jack Claybourn will meet Al Williams, Al Perry is paired with Paul Miller, and Jack [Bad Boy] Brown will face Jack Conley. . .

Eddie Dykes, Cincinnati heavyweight, and Dick Sicco have been matched to meet in a preliminary to the Harold Brown-Fritzie Zivic headliner at Rainbo Fronton Jan. 7.

HUNTER TELLS WHY THE DUCKS PASS UP ILLINOIS

They Leave Wisconsin for Arkansas Rice Fields.

BY BOB BECKER.

Wisconsin again steps up to the firing line shooting both barrels at once in our "Vox Pop" on the waterfowl hunting situation in the central states. The following letter from J. C. Burns of Sheboygan, Wis., needs no comment:

"I am a daily reader of THE TRIBUNE and I have read your articles on duck hunting with great interest. I own a duck hunting camp on Lake Poygan. I am in a position to shoot nearly every day of the season. I can say truthfully that I did not shoot one mallard at Poygan last season. In Wisconsin we raise mallards. But we do not shoot many of them. Here is the answer: They stay up here until early October and then they just pass up Illinois. They stopped there when they could find feed. But now that the law has taken care of this method of keeping some ducks up here for us northerners, the ducks just go on down to Arkansas.

Shoots Over Reservoir.

"I recently returned from De Witt, Ark., where I shot mallards. I hunted over one of the many reservoirs near De Witt. It has about three feet of water in it, is in an oak woods, and covers about 10,000 acres. The mallards stay in the woods all day. They leave about dusk for the rice fields, feed all night on the rice, and then the following day try to find a place to take it easy in the flooded woods. To give you an example of what a cinch it is to shoot down there, the fellow whose place I shot over had 35 shooters on the opening day and the kill was 350 mallards.

"The mallard is no fool. He goes where the feed is. We cannot get many in Wisconsin because our law is so devised that the mallard feeds in a place where you may get only a few now and then. In Illinois the law does not allow you to feed and you haven't much natural food. So he goes where there is food.

Cannot Use Live Decoys.

"They do not allow us to use live decoys. They do not allow us to hunt early or late. They do not allow us to feed the ducks. Now tell me how we can get them if we are not allowed to do these things. Down in Arkansas they have feed. They shoot them in the resting grounds.

"After the harvest the rice fields down there in Arkansas are full of rice. I commented on that to H——, on whose place I was shooting. He said:

"'No need to pay labor a dollar to pick up 50 cents worth of rice.' Therefore it is left by the bushel in the rice fields for the ducks. And don't think they don't know it's there for them."

Tropical Park Opens Florida's 96 Day Season

Miami, Fla., Dec. 19.—(AP)—Horse racing returns to Florida tomorrow as Tropical Park opens. The state hopes to reap a record harvest from the pari-mutuels.

The ninety-six day season will be divided between Tropical Park and Hialeah. Tropical will operate until Jan. 11. Hialeah will run from Jan. 12 through March 5, and Tropical will reopen March 7 and operate through April 9.

Tomorrow's feature, the $1,200 inaugural handicap of six furlongs for 3 year olds and up, attracted a field of twelve sprinters. Felix Spatola's Wise Prince was the handicappers' favorite.

Two Denemark Entries.

Other entries were Mrs. Emil Denemark's Orientalist and Higher Cloud, Mrs. Townsend B. Martin's Stubbs, the Shandon farm's Evergold, I. J. Collins' Paradisical, Miss A. Doris' Lady Higloss, F. L. Flanders' Jair, H. L. Bundscho's Great Haste, Mrs. D. L. Horton's Conrad Mann, and two Canadian entries, Kingsbury, owned by Mrs. Thomas Stevenson of Toronto, and Jesting, racing for Kenneth Dawes of Montreal.

Director William V. Dwyer predicted Tropical Park, upon which $80,000 was spent last summer for improvements, would enjoy the best season in its history.

Everybody's Very Hopeful.

"We set new attendance marks last winter and I confidently expect we'll pass them this season," he said.

Chairman Joseph Stein of the state racing commission likewise was optimistic.

"Early indications point to a 10 per cent increase in the taxes racing contributes to the state each winter," Stein said.

Last season the state collected $1,086,581 from its 3 per cent tax on mutuels play of $30,825,164, admissions, and ocupational licenses at the two tracks. Both figures were records since pari-mutuel wagering was legalized in the state.

The attendance of 756,955 last season also was a record.

CARNERA, BROKE AND BROKEN, GOES HOME TO MOTHER

BUDAPEST, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Primo Carnera, lonesome, poor and assured that his fighting days are over, will be taken to Venice Tuesday. He has been in a sanatorium here with a kidney hemorrhage which physicians say will prevent his fighting again. He still looks pale and ill and is in such a condition that another hemorrhage may occur.

But Primo wants very badly to go home to his mother, so the Italian legation has arranged to take him.

"My mother didn't know I was sick. Otherwise she would have spent all she had to come see me," he said today. "I was desperately lonesome in this hospital. Nobody called. Nobody sent flowers. I hope I recover my health in Venice.

"I never have been to school and I can barely read and write so I can't do anything but manage a small Venice hotel which I once bought with my savings and which my mother now is managing.

"I once had many dollars but all I have got to show for it is that hotel. I never thought I would have to live on that. I am certain my fighting days are over."

Carnera stretches out on two hospital beds. Nearby he has a small valise containing a silk dressing gown, a memento of the days when he fought at Madison Square Garden and in the Yankee stadium. He said, however, that he had another bag which he would retrieve from his Budapest hotel when he paid his bill.

Mack Doubts Calendar That Says He's 75

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 19.—(AP)—Connie Mack, the lean leader of the Philadelphia Athletics, who will soon be starting his 55th year in baseball, leaned back in a chair at his home today and sighed.

"I'll be 75 next Thursday," he said. "Because the calendar says so. If it weren't for the calendar I could be 50 or 25. It's such a little time I've been around."

Connie's little time goes back to 1883 when, as Cornelius McGillicuddy, he caught in the days when catchers used only a thin glove without fingers or padding, stood far back of the batter and often took a pitch on the bounce.

Looks His Age First Time.

"It's only when a man gets sick and down that his age counts," Mack said, referring to his illness last August that caused him to forsake Shibe park for the remaining month of the season.

"I used to look at men 10 years younger than I and they seemed older. At least they looked older than I've ever felt. Now I know that for the first time I look my age."

Tough to Quit Now.

"It would be pretty tough," Mack continued, "if something happened and I couldn't go to the ball grounds any more. But I'm feeling better every day. A lot better. Not tops yet, but I think I'm on the road back."

Recently named to baseball's hall of fame, Mack said he wouldn't want to quit the game.

"I want to have one more championship," he remarked.

Leo, St. George, Mount Carmel, and St. Ignatius advanced to the semi-finals of the fourth pre-season Catholic high school basketball tournament on the St. George floor in Evanston yesterday.

Leo defeated Loyola, 33 to 32, and St. George conquered Cretin of St. Paul, Minn., 46 to 33, in the night games and St. Ignatius whipped St. Philip, 32 to 28, and Mount Carmel defeated St. Mary's of Woodstock, 41 to 23, in the afternoon games.

Tierney, Collins Lead St. George.

Tierney and Collins were the leaders of the victorious St. George offense, between them accounting for twenty-seven points. Cretin held its own in the first period, but fell back, 16 to 7, in the next and trailed thereafter.

A pair of high scoring guards, Quinlan and Vaughan, led St. Ignatius to its triumph, scoring a total of eighteen points against St. Philip. The teams were tied twice, 6 to 6, in the first quarter, and 13 to 13 in the second, after which St. Ignatius took the lead and held it to the conclusion of the 32 to 28 victory.

DETROIT POLO TEAM IS OUT OF TITLE RACE

With the indoor polo season recessed until Jan. 8, experts are figuring on the probable Metropolitan league champions, senior and junior, and arriving at no conclusions.

The only point definitly settled after the four Saturdays of play at the 124th Field Artillery armory is that the Detroit Gold Hats have been eliminated from title consideration. The invaders lost three games in a row to the 124th Field Artillery, Chicago Shamrocks, and Chicago Ramblers in turn.

Tied for first place in the senior division at present are the 124th Field Artillery, Shamrocks, Ramblers and 122d Field Artillery with one victory and no defeats. Presenting clean slates in the junior class are the league leading Fort Sheridan team with two victories, and the Chicago Black Horse Troop with one. Next in order with a .500 average are the Red Legs, while Olympia Fields with two losses, and the Senecas with one have yet to score a victory.

New Rules Make Basketball Killing Game, Players Find

New York, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Mothers and fathers, who shudder each fall as son risks his neck on the football field, now are face to face with a post-season worry that threatens to be worse than the original. It's college basketball minus the center jump.

Elimination of the center jump after a field goal has turned the once ladylike game into the hardest, cruelest, tiring game in sport. It isn't quite so hard on members of large university teams which have plenty of capable reserves. But for the small iron man squads, the continuous running, twisting and chasing is torturous.

It isn't that the players topple prostrate on the floor and groan for air, although there have been isolated cases of such occurrences reported about the country. But these enthusiastic, tireless kids run themselves for forty minutes, sapping the strength they'll need so badly later in life. All mortgages must be paid and a pretty high one is being levied against the systems of college basketball players this season.

Fans Favor New Game.

Last night at the University of Illinois-St. John's game at Madison Square Garden, although the splendidly coached Illini were far superior and won, 60 to 45, after a shaky start, the vast crowd of 16,000 spectators was stunned. Illinois scored 1½ points per minute as against a little over a point by the St. John's team. But near the finish, as they noted the drawn expressions of some of the weary players, most of the fans felt sorry for the contestants. A doctor shook his head sadly and remarked:

"This game, as it is today, will be a great boon to heart specialists ten years from now. Nobody, not even those finely trained young athletes, can go through ten games a season for two or three years like this without disastrous effects."

Break for Illini.

After the City College of New York-St. Joseph game, first game of the Garden's double-header, the spectators were asked their opinion of the game without the center jump rule. Those in favor of the center jump were in minority, according to the applause. But after watching a second game many changed their minds. Later, Coach Doug Mills of Illinois was accosted on the question.

"If I had a big center, I wouldn't mind the center jump," he said, "but I haven't got one and so we get a better chance. My boys were substituted quite freely. However, some said they felt worn out for the first time this season. This was a rather wild, offensive game throughout. They're not all like this."

A check of the twenty leading college basketball games last night, however, showed how fast and loose the game has become without the slight rest given by a walk back to midcourt and jump at center. The winners of those twenty games scored 918 points, an average of 46, against 679, an average of 34, for the losers. That's an average of 80 points, or 2 points scored for every minute of action. Small wonder that James Naismith, inventor of the game, claims it has been spoiled from a scientific standpoint.

Because of the smaller colleges, which can't put big squads on the floor, the no center jump rule seems to be doomed after a year or two of trial.

MARIETTA LINES UP CREWS FOR JULY REGATTA

Marietta, O., Dec. 19.—(AP)—F. L. [Duke] Hayes, Marietta college athletic director, said today that this Ohio river town had been assured a regatta of perhaps ten of the country's best college crews.

Hayes, at the midwinter meeting of the Rowing Coaches' Organization of America in New York last week, invited the crews to race here July 1 or 2. He said immediate favorable action had been taken by Rutgers, Pennsylvania, Cornell, Syracuse, and Harvard.

Against that array the middle west will place its only collegiate crews, Marietta and Wisconsin. From the west, Hayes said, will come the world champion University of Washington Huskies. California is another possibility, Hayes said. Navy is a possible sixth eastern representative.

Marietta's Ohio river course will be the scene of the regatta, and the race will be over two or three miles.

Dr. Lasker Undefeated in Simultaneous Chess with 25

Playing twenty-five chess experts simultaneously, Dr. Emanuel Lasker, former world champion, emerged early today with only two draws and no losses. The group match was held before 200 spectators at the Jewish Peoples institute, 3500 Douglas boulevard, and took four hours to play. The players who drew with Dr. Lasker were Dr. S. W. Becker, president of the Illinois State Chess association, and Elias Gordon, former middle western champion.

SONJA HENIE'S PLANES FORCED DOWN BY SNOW

Sonja Henie, motion picture star, and 58 members of the skating carnival cast scheduled to open an appearance at the Chicago Stadium Christmas day, were grounded at Kansas City last night when snow prevented their three chartered Trans-Continental Western transport planes from continuing the trip from Los Angeles.

The troupe will take off at 8 o'clock this morning and arrive in Chicago at 10.30 o'clock in time to arrange for a rehersal at the Stadium this afternoon. Twenty-five other members of the cast are en route from Los Angeles by train and will arrive in Chicago tonight.

Miss Henie is accompanied by her mother and Arthur Wirtz, manager of the Stadium. The three planes left Los Angeles early yesterday and were due in Chicago shortly before midnight last night.

They will circle the loop in an aerial parade before landing today.

Pitt Team Was Just Too Tired, Cassiano States

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 19.—(AP)—The University of Pittsburgh football team voted against Rose Bowl participation because the players were tired, in the opinion of Richard Cassiano, sophomore half back.

Cassiano, here to spend the holidays with his parents, said reports of the vote taken a few weeks ago "indicating that the Pitt team demanded $200 expense money" were false.

"I was one of the voters and can say that no such request was made the fellows would not regard the college in such a light. We had played a ten game schedule, concluded by the Duke game, and the majority of the players were very tired."

C. Y. O. ICE HOCKY TEAM DEFEATS WAUKEGAN, 4 TO 3

Kuchsinger Scores in Last Two Minutes.

A goal by Jack Kuchsinger, with less than two minutes to go, gave the C. Y. O. Shamrocks a 4 to 3 victory over Waukegan and first place in the Arena Amateur Hocky league yesterday in the Arena. In the first game of the day, Whiting upset the Chicago Hornets, 1 to 0.

The Shamrock-Waukegan game was enlivened by a free for all in front of the Waukegan goal in the second period, with most of the players of both teams taking part.

Hodgins Starts Scoring.

Wilbur Savela and Bill Hodgins of the C. Y. O., took care of the bulk of the winners' scoring. Trailing 2 to 0 going into the second period, Hodgins scored on a pass from Savela. Then Savela fed the puck to Hodgins for another goal, all within the first three minutes. Later in the period the Shamrocks went ahead as Savela pushed in a score, taking a pass from Mikolich.

Eddie Janelle got his first goal in four minutes of the final period, following a pass from Jack Meecham.

Penalty Aids Whiting.

In the first game Whiting capitalized on a Hornet penalty, scored a goal, and then protected the margin for the better part of two periods to win.

John Catherwood, Hornet wing, was banished in the closing second of the first period and still had some time in the box as the second period opened. It was while the Hornets were thus handicapped that Whiting scored as Garnet Ward slipped in a shot after taking a pass from Murn Howard.

STOCK VALUES GAIN A LITTLE IN DULL TRADE

Volume Is Smallest Since September.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 19.—[Special.]—Dwindling activity and narrow price movements characterized dealings on the New York Stock exchange last week as the approaching holidays and uncertain business conditions cast a shadow on the market. In the six days of trading stocks improved irregularly.

Reflecting the reluctance of many traders to take positions, the volume for the week at 5,170,000 shares was the smallest since the first week in September. On only two days—Monday and Thursday—did transfers amount to a million shares.

Stocks lost little time in getting off to a bad start because of week-end developments. On Monday nervous selling came into the list, induced by the bombing and sinking of the American gunboat Panay by the Japanese. In the general list the losses ranged from fractions to 3 points, while some miscellaneous issues sold off as much as 5 points.

List Grows Steadier.

In the following three days the list steadied as the conviction grew that the incident would not involve us in war. On Friday the list closed irregularly lower, on the smallest volume for a full session since Dec. 2.

On Saturday the market opened firm and picked up moderate strength as the session progressed. Sentiment was helped considerably by the overnight news from Washington that the house had blocked the wages and hours bill, which would place labor under political control. The news of the interstate commerce commission's action in lifting freight rates on a number of commodities came too late to have any appreciative effect.

As measured by the Dow-Jones averages, thirty representatives industrial issues lost .20 point, twenty rails lost .45, and twenty utility stocks rose .45. Steel shares turned in about the best group movement of the week.

Motor Shares Decline.

Motor shares lost from fractions to more than a point. Output figures again recorded a decline both in the week and year.

Price changes in the utilities were held to contain little significance. Next Tuesday the White House will resume the conferences with utility company executives and they will be watched carefully as a guide as to how the government intends to treat the power companies in the future.

Investors' Guide

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Quarterly Income Shares, Inc.

Investors' Guide: I would like information on Quarterly Income Shares, Inc. Are they a sound investment? What do they pay?—Mrs. H. M.

Answer: This concern was incorporated late in 1932 as a limited management type of investment fund. Its charter was amended a year ago so that it qualifies as a mutual investment company under terms of the revenue act of 1936—an investment company which distributes each year at least 90 per cent of all net income, including profits on sale of securities.

The company's portfolio is limited to investments in securities of companies on an "eligible list" determined from time to time by directors. About 100 companies are on the list. Securities of 67 of the companies were held on Oct. 15, 1937.

Net value of assets was $29,034,000, or $11.36 a share, on Oct. 15, 1937, compared with $45,161,000, or $17.80 a share; $36,359,000, or $14.20 a share, and $26,035,000, or $11.70 a share, at the end of each of the three preceding years.

Because of diversification of investments, net asset values usually reflect the course of the stock market as a whole. Started at the depth of the depression, this trust had steadily increasing asset values for its shares, reaching highs of $18.77 on Jan. 15 and $18.30 on April 15, 1937. After that time asset values shrank sharply with the downward sweep of the market.

The amount of money paid to stockholders depends principally on two factors—the amount of dividends received on securities owned by the trust and the amount of profits on sale of securities.

Net investment income [from dividends] was $1,678,000, or 70 cents a share in the fiscal year ended Oct. 15, 1937, compared with $1,330,000, or 52 cents a share; $1,183,000, or 43 cents a share, and $819,000, or 38 cents a share, in the three preceding years.

Profit on sales of securities amounted to $4,196,000 in the 1937 year, compared with $1,642,000, $159,000, and $750,000 in the three preceding years. A declining market has cut down these profits in the last six months.

Regular quarterly dividends of 30 cents have been paid on the present stock. Extras of 30 cents cash and $1 in new five year 5 per cent debentures were paid during the fiscal year just ended, so that the company might qualify as a mutual company.

There are 2,397,710 shares of 10 cent par capital stock and $1,799,650 of debentures outstanding.

Wheat Raiser Benefited by Larger Crop

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Wheat producers are better off this year despite the fact that wheat is bringing 45 cents a bushel less than at this time a year ago. The cash income on this year's comparatively large crop is 63 per cent larger than the income received last season, according to the estimate of the United States department of agriculture.

The well-being of the wheat farmers is the result of a combination of factors. Developments that could not be foreseen a year ago have reopened the world market to American wheat. Today for the first time since the beginning of the farm board purchasing program that began in 1929, the United States is an exporter of consequence.

Short Crops Elsewhere.

The development that contributed most to restoration of foreign markets for American wheat was the failure last summer of the Canadian crop. Added to that was the shortage of wheat reserves of European countries and mediocre crops in Argentina and Australia. No amount of domestic crop curtailment or regulation of production and surpluses could accomplish what has occurred fortuitously.

The United States this year harvested combined spring and winter wheat crops of 865 million bushels, the largest yield since 1932, and 238 millions more than last year's meager return. The harvest exceeded normal domestic requirements by more than 200 million bushels. The poor crops of prior seasons, however, had depleted the country's reserve supply, which last July 1 amounted to about 90 million bushels, compared with the 140 to 150 million which is usually considered necessary for an adequate reserve.

U. S. Has Wheat for Export.

After replenishing the reserve stocks and providing for domestic consumption, it is estimated about 175 million bushels are left for export. A surplus of this size without an export outlet would be a heavy weight on prices.

The pressure, however, has been lessened by the opening up of the export market. Export sales are unlikely to take more than half of the surplus, but even this prospective reduction is insurance against extremely low prices.

Corn producers are not as well situated this year as are the wheat farmers. The country raised a bumper crop this season after the disastrous crop failure in 1936. The harvest is placed by the government at 2 billion 555 million bushels, compared with the lean 1 billion 507 million bushels harvested in 1936.

Situation of Corn Growers.

On that portion of the crop that is marketed commercially—about 10 per cent—the cash income is estimated by the department of agriculture at $234,385,000, against $243,665,000 last year. Corn, however, is not a "cash" crop in the sense that wheat is. Most of it is consumed on the farm and is indirectly a big revenue producer.

FLORSHEIM SHOE PROFIT REDUCED BY HIDES SLUMP

The Florsheim Shoe company, Chicago shoe manufacturer, yesterday reported net profit for the fiscal year ended Oct. 31, 1937, of $928,812, against $1,041,330 in the preceding fiscal year. The 1937 profit was equal to $2.32 a share on the class A stock and $1.16 a share on the class B stock against $2.60 and $1.30 on the class A and class B, respectively, in the preceding year. Profit was after provision for depreciation, reserves, income, and other taxes.

Irving S. Florsheim, president, said that the volume of business was on a satisfactory basis, showing an improvement in both units and dollars over the preceding year.

He attributed the decline in profit in part to the business recession in the last quarter of the company's fiscal year, but more particularly to substantial inventory adjustments. He explained that the unprecedented decline in prices of skins, hides, and other commodities caused an unusually large year-end markdown.

Current assets as of Oct. 31 were $7,577,782 against $7,428,206 in the preceding year and current liabilities were $496,234, against $481,761.

Chicago Trade Restricted by Inclement Weather

Bad weather last week cut down Chicago retail and wholesale trade, according to the Chicago Association of Commerce. Retail business was "fair," according to the report, but the number of out of town buyers who would normally shop in Chicago at this time was small. Wholesalers reported fairly heavy orders, but deliveries were held up in many cases. A last minute rush of buyers is expected this week, if weather conditions are better.

SWIFT PROFIT IS LOWER DESPITE GAIN IN SALES

Net Income Equal to $1.48 Per Share.

Swift & Co., world's largest packing company, yesterday reported consolidated net income for the fiscal year ended Oct. 31 of $8,880,496, equal to $1.48 a share on 6,000,000 capital shares. Profit in the preceding year, including $3,372,694 in special credits, was $12,103,751, or $2.02 a share on the same number of shares. Without the special credits the company earned $8,990,822, or $1.50 a share, in the 1936 year.

Sales, including service revenues, for the year just ended aggregated $885,836,530, an increase of 6.5 per cent over sales of $831,671,748 in the preceding year. Cost of sales and service rose to $807,706,799 from $753,699,911.

Operating Income Lower.

Operating income this year receded to $7,625,607 from $12,340,459 in the preceding year, but dividends received from subsidiaries increased to $4,765,630 from $908,413.

The report also showed an increase in taxes other than income taxes to $6,847,803 from $5,322,580 in the year ended Oct. 31, 1936. Provision for income taxes [including undistributed profits tax of $7,122 for 1936] was $2,092,102, against $2,406,617 in the preceding year.

The company held 80,250 shares of its capital stock in its treasury on Oct. 31, 1937, against 102,270 shares a year earlier. Considering stock held by the public only, the per share earnings in the year just ended were a shade under $1.52 a share on 5,919,750 shares outstanding at the end of the period, against a little more than $1.52 a share on 5,897,730 shares in the preceding year.

Hold Profits Disappointing.

In commenting on results for the year, G. F. Swift, president throughout the fiscal year until his election as vice chairman of the board of directors on Nov. 18, expressed disappointment over profits, which he said represented a return of 3.90 per cent on shareholders' total investment.

"We had expected to make a much better showing thar this," he said, "but higher operating costs, due to increased wages, higher live stock, and other raw material costs, made satisfactory profit margins difficult."

Swift also commented on the fact that meat production diminished rapidly during the year after early liquidation, and that meat and live stock prices rose.

"This year brought home the striking truth that short supplies do positive harm to every one," he said. "Farmers are unable to profit from high live stock prices when they have little or no live stock to sell.

"Short supplies injure the meat packer because the cost of preparing meat for market rises substantially as the volume declines. Employment in the meat packing industry has been reduced, but an increase is expected promptly as live stock marketing increases."

Current assets as of Oct. 31, 1937, were $177,961,361, including $29,188,982 in cash and $5,894,715 in marketable securities, against current liabilities of $24,592,114. A year earlier current assets were $190,388,529, including $20,185,974 in cash, $6,078,793 in United States government securities, and $16,077,408 in marketable securities, against current liabilities of $31,048,215.

FREIGHT CARS ON ORDER DEC. 1 SHOW DECLINE

Freight cars on order by the railroads on Dec. 1 numbered 12,566, against 18,305 on Nov. 1, 19,844 on Dec. 1, 1936, and 8,076 on Dec. 1, 1935, the Association of American railroads said yesterday. The figures include equipment under construction in railroad owned plants in which reclaimed parts are used.

Steam locomotives on order on Dec. 1 totaled 156, against 111 in 1936 and 14 in 1935. Electric and Diesel Locomotives on order totaled 40, against 5 last year and 3 in 1935.

TABER TERMS SILVER BUYING 'WORST RACKET'

Washington, D. C., Dec. 19.—(AP)—A harbinger of congressional opposition to extension of the government's silver buying program came today from Representative Taber [R., N. Y.], who termed it "one of our worst rackets" and "a menace to silver industry."

Taber, who is ranking minority member of the house appropriations committee, said an attempt would be made to block expenditure of any more money for silver in the event the program is extended beyond Dec. 31, expiration date of the existing silver purchase act. The New Yorker declared that since the program started in December, 1933, the government had spent more than $600,000,000 for "upwards of one billion ounces of silver." Including coinage this gave the government a total of about 3,000,000,000 ounces, he said.

"This silver is absolutely useless to the government as a medium of exchange or as money, with the exception of the small item involved in fractional silver coin," Taber said.

Elasticity of Demand.

Elasticity of demand refers to variation in demand for a product or service which results from a change in its price. If, when the price of a commodity is lowered, there is a relatively large increase in the amount purchased, the demand is said to be elastic. If practically the same amount is bought whether the price is low or high [within limits, of course], the demand is termed inelastic.

The demand for necessities, particularly those selling at a low price, is often quite inelastic. Thus, if the price of bread is raised from 10 to 11 cents a loaf, an increase of 10 per cent, it may happen that people will eat about as much bread as before. On the other hand, if the price of luxuries, such as diamonds, or even automobiles, is boosted by 10 per cent, demand is likely to fall off sharply. If the price is lowered by 10 per cent more people will buy. The demand for luxuries is usually highly elastic.

FEDERAL ISSUES ARE BRIGHT SPOT IN BOND MARKET

New York, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Gains in United States government issues encouraged the bond market last week to move toward a more stabilized level following the autumn break. Institutional buying, chiefly by banks replacing declining business loans, was mainly responsible for the rise in the federal list.

The federal rise also encouraged somewhat more aggressive support through most of the corporate list, although there was some loss of ground by the general run of secondary rails and a few trading favorites in the industrial and utility sections.

Steel Industry Shows Signs of Recovery

The slow but steady improvement in new steel business continued last week, the magazine Steel said yesterday. Some companies have had larger bookings to date in December than in the corresponding part of November, and in a few instances indications for December point to a higher total than in October, the trade journal reported.

Operations in the steel industry last week continued unchanged from the preceding week at 27 per cent of ingot capacity, the first time since the week ended Sept. 11 that the rate has failed to show a decline. Various adjustments to meet delivery requirements were made, with increases offsetting declines.

The Youngstown district increased operations 6 points to 30 per cent; Cleveland, 5 points to 36, and Cincinnati, 25 points to 54 per cent of capacity. Wheeling lost 6 points to 24; Buffalo, 5 points to 16; New England, 6 points to 30, and St. Louis, 4 points to 16 per cent.

Other steel centers showed no change, with Chicago operating at 24 per cent of capacity, Pittsburgh, 19; eastern Pennsylvania, 29; Birmingham, 9, and Detroit, 52 per cent.

New business this month has been mostly in small orders for consumers who have depleted their stocks and need material immediately, Steel said. Total tonnage is not large, but indicates an upward trend.

"It is believed this buying would be heavier except for the approach of the year's end, with the usual tendency to hold inventories to a minimum," the magazine continued.

Expect Renewed Demand.

"Decision of a western steelmaker to continue production of steel at its present rate through the holidays, even if the semifinished product must be piled, indicates confidence in a renewed demand early in the year.

"Steelmaking scrap apparently is pointing the way to better business in the steel industry, the long decline in prices being halted and a slight rise indicated. General sentiment of consumers and dealers is that the first important tonnage appearing in the market will be the signal for a rise in prices. Higher quotations for railroad lists indicate greater confidence."

For the third consecutive week, Steel's composite scrap price advanced, rising 33 cents to $13.41 a ton. The iron and steel composite was raised 2 cents to $38.90 because of stronger scrap prices. The composite of finished steel prices remains unchanged at $61.70 a ton.

D. 1938, at 10:00 o'clock in the forenoon, for the proposal and consideration of the Plan of Reorganization of November 1, 1937, of the above named Debtor, being SCHEDULE "F" attached to a certain petition of the Debtor filed in said Court on November 24, 1937, and for the consideration of any amendments or modifications of said Plan of Reorganization of November 1, 1937, of any other plan of Reorganization similarly proposed, of the confirmation of the said Plan of Reorganization of November 1, 1937, if it shall appear that the said Plan of Reorganization of November 1, 1937, shall have been accepted in writing, as required by the provisions of Subdivision (e), Clause 1, of Section 77B of the Bankruptcy Act, as amended, and of the division of creditors and stockholders into classes, according to their respective claims and interests. At said hearing the Court may be called upon to decide whether the interests of any creditors or stockholders of the Debtor are materially and adversely affected by the said Plan of Reorganization of November 1, 1937, or by any amendments or modifications thereof that may be then proposed, or by any other Plan of Reorganization of the Debtor that may be then proposed. At said hearing any party in interest may appear and be heard.

Such registered holders are further notified that, pursuant to said order of said Court of December 1, 1937, any such registered holder who shall not prior to January 27, 1938, have so elected to withdraw such acceptance previously given to the said "Plan and Extension and Deposit Agreement" of the Debtor shall be deemed to have accepted the said Plan of Reorganization of November 1, 1937, of the Debtor.

The Debtor will issue and deliver to such accepting noteholders a Certificate of Deposit to be registered in the name of such noteholder and to be transferable on the books of the Debtor in such form as the Debtor's counsel shall approve.

Holders of the common stock of the Debtor may accept the said Plan of Reorganization of November 1, 1937, by filing with the Debtor written acceptance thereof in such form as the Debtor's counsel may approve.

Any such acceptance will be deemed to continue in full force and effect unless revoked by the transferee or assignee of any such shares of common stock, or by a successor in interest of such transferee or assignee. Any such transferee or assignee or successor in interest may revoke such acceptance by filing with the Debtor a verified notice of revocation in form approved by counsel for the Debtor, and by either (a) presenting the common stock certificate evidencing such shares to the Debtor in form sufficient to prove the ownership of the holder thereof, or (b) by transferring such shares of common stock into the name of such transferee or assignee or successor in interest. Such ownership of such transferee, assignee or successor in interest shall be deemed sufficiently proved (a) by a transferee of record by the production of the stock certificate representing such shares registered in the name of such transferee, or (b) by an assignee by the production of the stock certificate representing such shares, duly endorsed in blank or to such assignee, or accompanied by an appropriate instrument of assignment and transfer of such shares in blank or to such assignee, with signatures guaranteed in every case.

STANDARD GAS AND ELECTRIC COMPANY

AMERICAN OIL MEN IN MEXICO FEAR FUTURE

Say Labor Decision Is Confiscatory.

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 19.—(AP)—American oil men, filled with gloomy forebodings for the future of Mexico's $400,000,000 petroleum industry, looked to Washington today for relief from what they termed a "confiscatory" arbitration of their year old conflict with Mexican labor. Fifteen American companies were affected.

The Mexican labor department estimated an arbitration board's award of shorter hours and increased pay to the industry's 48,000 workers, handed down last night, would increase operating costs some $7,500,000 yearly. Company figures placed the increase at nearer $10,000,000.

Envoy Studies Situation.

United States Ambassador Josephus Daniels and commercial attachés of the embassy were studying the situation closely. Daniels yesterday admitted the possibility of American representations should the award be considered a "denial of justice."

The oil workers' syndicate acclaimed the two to one decision of the board as "a great victory for the proletariat whose benefits all workers share." The statement was considered to indicate a new drive for increased advantages to all labor.

May Ask Injunction.

The decision was said officially to have awarded the workers a 40 hour week and a minimum daily wage of 5.20 pesos [about $1.45]. The companies had offered four pesos [about [$1.04].

Legal stafs for the oil industry, which is foreign controled, were drafting a petition for a restraining injunction. The petition must be filed within fifteen days.
